GOV. HARTLEY HOWEVER, IS FAR BEHIND

Governor Hunt of Arizona Seeking Eighth Term is Second to Dark Horse LONG'S TICKET WINS

Many Upsets Recorded in Nine States as Results of Primaries Counted

SEATTLE, Sept. 14.—(UP)—Sen. Wesley L. Jones appeared to have won his Republican primary battle today as returns from rural counties began to augment those from Seattle and Tacoma which were almost complete.

Jones maintained a steady lead after the first few votes were counted and eastern Washington returns were adding to his lead. Latest returns gave Jones 49,820 and his opponent, Adam Beeler, 33,845. Jones is author of the "five and ten" prohibition law. Beeler is a vet.

Gov. Roland H. Hartley, seeking Republican nomination for his third term, was 23,000 votes behind Lieut. Gov. John A. Gellatly. Rep. Ralph Horr, Seattle, Republican, was defeated by John F. Miller, the man he defeated two years ago. With the count almost complete Miller had 20,053 and Horr 13,376. Marion Zischewski was the Democratic nominee.

Rep. Lindsey H. Hadley, Repn., had a safe lead in the second district and Monrad C. Wallgren, appeared to be his Democratic opponent. Rep. Albert Johnson, Repn., was unopposed in the third district and Don C. Abel was leading for the Democratic nomination. Rep. John W. Summers, Repn., had a 2 to 1 lead in the fourth district. Rep. Sam B. Hill, Dem., was unopposed in either part in the fifth district.

Homer T. Bone, Liberal Democrat, had a big margin for the Democratic senatorial nomination. GOVERNOR HUNT OF ARIZONA LOSING

PHOENIX, Sept. 14.—(UP)—Dr. B. B. Moehr, a dark horse candidate, today had a sizeable plurality over the veteran incumbent, George W. P. Hunt, and two other candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in yesterday's primary election.

Governor Hunt, seeking nomination for his eighth term, had 8574 votes against 12951 for Dr. Moehr. K. Berry Peterson, incumbent attorney general, was running a close third, with 6922. State Senator Fred Sutter, the fourth candidate, conceded Dr. Moehr's nomination shortly after midnight. Hunt and Peterson headquarters were silent.

With a 4 to 1 Democratic majority in the Arizona registration, the Democratic nominee will be well on his way to the governorship. Jack Kinney of Tucson was leading State Senator W. W. Midgley of Flagstaff by nearly 1000 votes for the Republican nomination.

Draw Lots To Settle Tie Vote Thursday

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 14.—(UP)—Plans to settle the tie vote of Congressman H. E. Barbour and Glenn M. DeVore for the Republican nomination in the ninth congressional district have been postponed until tomorrow at 9 a. m. Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan announced today.

The two candidates previously were notified to be present at the secretary's office here to draw lots, as provided by state law, at 11 a. m. today. Both received 10,428 votes for the nomination at the August 30 primary election and a re-check failed to change the figures.

RUSSIAN PAYS WITH LIFE FOR DOUMER DEATH

Assassin of President of France Guillotined in Paris Early Today

PARIS, Sept. 14.—(UP)—The assassin of the beloved President Paul Doumer paid for his crime at dawn today when the sharp blade of the guillotine chopped off his head.

Dr. Paul Gorguloff, half-mad Russian, shot down the frail "Pere" Doumer at a benefit book sale for war veterans on May 7.

The knife of the guillotine fell at 8:03 a. m. The Russian's head dropped into a basket and his body thumped into a zinc lined wicker basket. Within five minutes, horses trotted over the cobblestones drawing a closed van that carried the body to a pauper's grave.

"Monsieur Paris" as official guillotine Anatole Deblier is called, officiated. The execution was completed so quickly that the group of lawyers, officials and journalists assembled at Sante prison near the guillotine scarcely saw it.

Barely half an hour before his execution, according to French law and custom, the assassin was awakened by his guard and lawyers and told that he must die. He said not a word, but dressed calmly.

Gorguloff said a prayer in Russian, as he was taken to the prison chapel, repeating the words after a Russian priest. He then went to be prepared for his final toilet. His hands were manacled and the back of his head shaved to better expose his flesh to the sharp knife of "the widow."

The Russian died courageously, with the same twisted grin on his face that he often displayed during his trial.

Roosevelt To Stop In Santa Ana

Democratic Candidate for President to Be Here Sunday, Sept. 25

FRANKLIN D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee for the presidency of the United States, will make a personal appearance in Santa Ana Sunday, September 25, it was learned authoritatively today.

Word that the presidential candidate will be in Santa Ana was received in a telephone call to Mayor Paul Witmer of Santa Ana, well known Democratic leader, from William Gibbs McAdoo, candidate for election to the United States senate from California. McAdoo telephoned Witmer from Los Angeles as he was preparing to leave for San Diego.

Roosevelt will arrive in Santa Ana by automobile, and Democratic leaders in the county are attempting to make definite arrangements for him to stop here at least for 10 or 15 minutes to give a brief address.

The hour of his arrival here has not been set, but probably will be made known later in the week. If arrangements can be made for Roosevelt to speak here, he may make his appearance in Birch park where he would make a brief talk which, according to local Democrats, would not be of a political nature, but more to greet his friends and supporters.

Roosevelt and his party will motor to San Diego after arriving in Southern California, and will go through Orange county either after leaving San Diego or on the way down. If he stops on the way back, the party will have made the trip to San Diego through Long Beach and coast cities. However, the definite routing will be announced later.

Arrangements are in progress to furnish an escort of state motorcycle officers on the Roosevelt trip through the county.

A resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to investigate the alleged misuse of funds obtained from the federal farm board was passed unanimously by the growers in a meeting here. A $40,000 a year retainer paid Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, as attorney for the Fruit Industries, Ltd., was under stood to be under fires of the grape growers.

ORANGE COUNTY DELEGATES TO ATTEND CONVENTIONS OF PARTIES IN STATE CAPITOL

ORANGE COUNTY will be represented by several delegates to the state party conventions to be held at the state capitol in Sacramento tomorrow, it was learned today.

Orange county Republican candidates planned to attend their party convention tomorrow. James E. Utt, the Republican choice for state assemblyman in the 74th district, had to leave for the east on a business trip and will not attend the convention.

Edward (Ted) Craig, candidate for re-election in the 75th district for state assemblyman, has already left for Sacramento, as has Senator Nelson T. Edwards, San Collins, district attorney, who is Republican congressional nominee, may attend if he is able to make arrangements to fly to Sacramento tonight, he said.

It was announced that R. Z. McKinney, candidate for congress; Robert Ramsey, candidate for state assemblyman; Frank Harwood, candidate for state assemblyman, and David G. Wetlin, candidate for state senator, planned to attend the state party convention.

The purpose of these party conventions is to organize the parties for the final election campaigns. This is done by appointing new state central committees to serve for the next two years, adopting state platforms and nominating presidential and vice presidential electors.

Latest Reports Received Declare Ship is North of Intended Course

BOARD S. S. FRANCE, Sept. 14.—(UP)—The France passed a monoplane headed east at 11:50 a. m. EST today.

The position of the ship at the time was 49.36 north, 17.38 west. If the plane sighted was the American Nurse, it was north of its intended course. The position given is about 450 miles west of Lands End, the southeastern extremity of England.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(UP)—The monoplane American Nurse, attempting a nonstop flight from New York to Rome, headed toward the Azores Islands today to take advantage of favorable weather.

The monoplane was sighted about 450 miles northwest of the Azores, Cape Race and 1000 miles east of Boston. Indicating that the plane was making 100 miles an hour on a due east course.

The monoplane is a flying scientific laboratory in which a physician and a nurse planned to study the reaction of pilots and passengers in ocean flights. There is also a mascot aboard, a pet woodchuck named "Tailwind" which will act as a carbon monoxide "detector" if fumes come from the motor.

Aboard the plane are: William Ellrich, veteran pilot; Dr. Leon M. Piculini, New York physician; Miss Edna Newcomer, nurse, of Williamsport, Pa., who will also act as relief pilot.

Miss Newcomer planned to make a parachute jump over Florence, Italy, in honor of Florence Nightingale.

The scientist will await return of his instruments which have measured the intensity of the cosmic ray 20 miles above the earth's surface, nearly twice as high as any man has ascended.

Border Closing Set Ahead By Treasury Dept.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(UP)—The ports of Calexico and San Ysidro, Calif., on the Mexican border, have been ordered to close tonight at 9 p. m. effective Sept. 15, the treasury department announced today.

Permission to hold the ports open until midnight was granted July 2 by the treasury. This order has been revoked, it was explained, because the congestion of traffic during the late hours made the burden of inspection too heavy to continue the midnight closing.

ROOSEVELT IN SPEECH OFFERS FARMER RELIEF

First of Four Major Talks is Delivered in Topeka By Nominee

STATE CAPITOL, TOPEKA, Kans., Sept. 14.—(UP)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today offered the agricultural mid-west a relief plan to give farmers a tariff benefit equivalent to the benefits given industry.

The governor, making the first of four major speeches on his transcontinental tour, emphasized important points in the plan providing for self-financing and prevention of retaliation by foreign countries. He also advocated more equitable distribution of taxes, the need for refinancing farm mortgages on certain conditions.

The governor summed up his plan in six proposals that provide:

1.—A tariff benefit over world prices which is equivalent to the benefits given by the tariff to industrial products.

2.—The plan must finance itself.

3.—It must not make use of any mechanism which would cause European customers of retaliation on the ground of dumping.

4.—It must make use of existing agencies and so far as possible be decentralized in its administration, thus placing responsibility for operation upon the locality rather than upon Washington.

5.—It must operate as nearly as possible on a co-operative basis and its effect must be to enhance and strengthen the co-operative movement.

VETERAN AID IS BECOMING BURDEN, SAYS

However, Bonus Fight Will Break Out on Floor of Convention, Predicted

MINORITY OPPOSED Chief of Veterans' Bureau Tells Men to Be Temperate in Aid Requests

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 14.—(UP)—A resolution favoring outright repeal of the 18th amendment was voted today by a sub-committee of the American Legion headed by Thomas W. Miller of Delaware. The fourteen members of the committee were unanimously in favor of the resolution, which was to go to the resolutions committee at 3 p. m., Miller said.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 14.—(UP)—The American Legion national convention opened its second business session here today without immediately taking up the highly volatile subjects of the soldiers bonus, prohibition and censure of the administration for evicting the bonus army from Washington.

Shortly after the session was called to order Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines addressed the Legionnaires, sounding a veiled warning against the bonus and urging the ex-service men to be "more temperate" in their requests for aid.

"Veteran aid is becoming a definite burden to the taxpayers," he said. The bonus question, in its dual role, was expected to reach the convention floor.

George R. Howitt, chairman of the national legislative committee, said a resolution regarding payment of the bonus would be called up. Augmenting this, Joseph Edgar, chairman of the sub-committee considering the eviction resolution, said his committee might not report until after the business session was over.

"It may go before the entire resolutions committee," he said. Repeal Resolution

Rumors were current around the auditorium and in hotel lobbies that an outright repeal resolution—with a reservation against saloons—may reach the floor.

In one of the committee hearings, the United Press learned, a Wisconsin delegate advocated a resolution favoring immediate restoration of light wines and beer.

"The material result of generosity can be no greater than the ability of the country to pay," said General Hines. "Legislation already in effect was enacted largely during a period of high

FERRY BOATS CRASH AT SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—(UP)—The ferry Oakland was damaged today when it collided with the auto ferry Tahoe near Goat Island in a thick fog.

No one was injured, Southern Pacific ferry officials announced. The Oakland completed its run to the Alameda pier and was then withdrawn for repairs. The Tahoe, undamaged, continued in service. Both crafts were traveling slowly because of the fog.

ISSUE WRIT IN CITY TEACHER CONTRACT CASE

On petition of Miss Bertha Briney, Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, late yesterday issued a writ of mandate against the Santa Ana High School district and individual members of the board of education, ordering the return to work of Miss Briney, a junior high school teacher, who was dismissed from her position by the board of education, on the grounds that she was not a teacher.

Following on the order to show cause was set for 2 p. m. Friday September 30 and is scheduled to be held before Presiding Judge James L. Allen.

Filing of the petition for a writ of mandate followed the refusal of school authorities to permit Miss Briney to take up her duties as teacher when she presented herself at the Santa Ana High School on Monday. Miss Briney was denied a contract for this year on the grounds of economy and necessity for reducing the teaching personnel and also because the board "did not desire to place any teacher on permanent tenure at this time."

Miss Briney is opposing her dismissal on the grounds that she already had attained the status of permanent teacher prior to the time she was refused a contract. The petition for the writ of mandate named as defendants, the Santa Ana High School district, George R. Wells, Marguerite Baker, W. M. Burke, M. B. Youel and Rolla Hays, as members of the board of education of the city of Santa Ana and constituting the high school board of the Santa Ana High School district.

In the petition it was declared that at the end of the school year 1930-31 Miss Briney was classified as a permanent teacher of the Santa Ana High School district by the board of trustees, having been employed by the district for two consecutive years prior hereto. Since acquiring permanent tenure it was declared that Miss Briney has never resigned nor been discharged for cause.

She charges that on May 11, 1931, she accepted an offer from the board of education as a permanent teacher in the district and so notified the superintendent of schools in writing, and completed the school year 1931-32.

On April 27, last, according to her petition, she was notified that her services would terminate on July 1, 1932 because of the school economy program and because it was not desirable to establish the permanent tenure of any teachers at that time.

Since sending her the notice of her dismissal, according to Miss Briney, the board has refused to enter into a contract with her in spite of her demands and that when she reported for duty last Monday the principal of the Willard school informed her that there was no work for her.

Miss Briney is represented in the action by attorneys R. Y. Williams, Charles D. Swanner and the legal firm of Briney and Eldale.

done include the governor, lieutenant governor, state treasurer, controller, attorney general, secretary of state and members of the board of equalization. In addition, all candidates for United States senate, congress, and state senate and assembly are qualified as delegates.

At the state central committee organization, which is held in Sacramento September 24, each delegate to the convention will attend, and in addition is privileged to name three electors from his own party as members.

No proxies are now permitted in state convention. Before proxies are allowed at state central committee meetings, and state senate and assembly are qualified as delegates.

The battle between William Gibbs McAdoo and Justus S. Wardell over who shall be "kingfish" of the Democratic party in California will be a feature of the Democratic convention.

These two Democrats opposed each other for the United States senatorial nomination at the state primary. They also were opposing leaders in the presidential campaign, McAdoo heading the Garner ticket and Wardell heading the Roosevelt delegation.

Both campaigns were bitterly fought, and whether the wounds caused in these battles will be healed by the time of the state convention is problematical.

Louis B. Mayer, Hollywood moving picture magnate, is slated for election as chairman of the new Republican state central committee, succeeding Marshall Hale of San Francisco. Under the new state law, this position is alternated between northern and Southern California.

The Republican convention, according to present indications, will be a harmonious affair, with all hands pledged to do their utmost in the November election for the entire Republican ticket, state and national.

In the race for Democratic nomination for the United States senate, the incumbent Carl Hayden had drawn a surprisingly strong opponent in Harlow Akers, Phoenix attorney, campaigning on a platform of repeal of the prohibition laws and full payment of the soldiers' bonus. Hayden's vote was 5542, Akers' 4783.

Lewis Douglas, incumbent, was being closely pressed for the Democratic nomination by William Coxon of Phoenix, Douglas totaling 5727, Coxon 4782.

BY UNITED PRESS

A summary of primary elections held Tuesday in seven states shows briefly the following results. Colorado—Karl C. Schuyler, attorney for Henry M. Blackmer in the oil scandals, leading Nate C. Warren for Republican senatorial nomination. Alva B. Adams, oil millionaire, leading John T. Burnett for Democratic nomination. James D. Parrott (R) and Lieut. Gov. E. C. Johnson (D) led the gubernatorial race.

Louisiana—Huey Long's ticket, pledged to repeal and limitation of private wealth, apparently winning by a huge vote. Nomination of John H. Overton for U. S. senate means retirement after 12 years of Senate. Edwin S. Broussard.

Michigan—Governor Wilbur M. Brucker held huge lead over opponents for the gubernatorial nomination.

Mississippi—Congressman Bob Hall trailing W. M. Collier for the Democratic congressional nomination in sixth district runoff. Incumbent highway commissioners leading opponents.

New Hampshire—Gov. John G. Winant (R) leading for Republican gubernatorial nomination. Charles W. Tobey (R) leading in congressional race. Senator Moses assured of his re-nomination. Geo. H. Duncan (D) and Henri T. Ledoux running even for gubernatorial nomination. Jeremiah Doyle and John J. Landers also in close race for Democratic congressional nomination. Fred H. Brown seemed assured of Democratic senatorial nomination. Congressman William N. Rogers (D) apparently renominated by large majority.

South Carolina—Senator Ellison Smith apparently renominated by large majority over former Senator Cole Blease. Blease had promised a "house cleaning of tax eaters."

Vermont—Gov. Stanley C. Wilson (R) apparently renominated along with Congressman Ernest W. Gibson. No major Democratic contests.

He cited the necessity of refinancing farm mortgages if the farmers of the nation are to enjoy prosperity. He pointed out that while the last session of congress did a great deal toward financially stabilizing banks, railroads and industry, practically nothing was done by that body toward removing the destructive menace of debt from farm homes.

"It is my purpose, if elected," he promised his audience, "to direct all the energy of which I am capable to the formulation of definite projects to relieve this distress."

"Specifically," he asserted, "I am prepared to insist that federal credit be extended to banks, insurance or loan companies, or other corporations or individuals which hold farm mortgages among their assets—but that these credits be made on the condition that every reasonable assistance be given to the mortgagors where the loans are sound, with the purpose of preventing foreclosure."

Means of bringing about, through governmental effort, a substantial reduction in the difference between the prices of the things the farmer sells and the things he buys, was declared by the governor to be an immediate necessity.

Support of Plan. "Support of the plan of some plan to put the tariff into effect seems to be found everywhere except in the administration at Washington," he said.

"This official lack of sympathy," Roosevelt asserted, "has probably done more to prevent the development of concrete, generally accepted plans than any other single factor."

He charged that this attitude was more than a failure to assume leadership. "It is an absolute repudiation of responsibility," he said.

He then charged the depression in agriculture began in 1921. Republican leaders first sought to belittle the plight of agriculture and later offered the Fordney-McCumber tariff as a remedy, he said.

Roosevelt went back to the Coolidge regime to seek material for his attack on the present administration.

"The claim that the Republican discriminatory tariff methods are a benefit to the farmer is a cynical and pitiless fraud," he declared.

The nominee demanded that farm board speculation in surpluses be ended, insisting that its stabilizing operations have put a million dollars on the neck of the cooperatives, in addition to squandering hundreds of millions of the taxpayers' money.

Chief Joe Calac of the united tribes—the Pechengas, Mesa Grandes, Cahullias, etc.—will speak at a meeting of the women's missionary society of the First Christian church at 7:30 tonight.

The American Indian will be the main topic of the program, to which all men and women of the church have been invited. Chief Calac at the present time is a guest in the home of Dr. John H. Williams, head of the high school and junior college printing department, in preparing a reprint of "Chinichinich," famous book on California Indians.

The 20-30 club of Santa Ana has arranged a program featuring Chief Calac next Tuesday at Ketter's cafe.

NOMINATIONS TO BE MADE BY KELLOGG POST

Members of Ernest L. Kellogg Post No. 1680, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will nominate officers at the regular meeting next Monday night, in October. At the last meeting they heard a report on the national convention at Sacramento, from its representative, Junior Vice Commander James Pearson of Fullerton.

Pearson reported an enthusiastic convention, and declared that the spirit of the convention predicted an increasingly active year under the leadership of the newly elected commander-in-chief, Robert E. Coontz, U. S. N. retired, of Washington, D. C.

An announcement was made that a dinner and card party would be staged by the Auxiliary of the local post next Friday night. prices, high wages and general prosperity; a time when it may be said that generosity was limited only by the degree of appreciation. That time has, temporarily at least, passed, and ability to pay has been materially lessened."

He cited reductions of salaries, the organized effort to reduce taxation and curtailment of government expenditures.

"It is only reasonable to suppose that benefits to ex-service men eventually will become a subject of inquiry," Gen. Hines warned the assembled Legionnaires.

He said that some citizens feel ex-service men are asking too much, and queried: "Shall we permit our patriotism to be questioned?"

"I would suggest that the legion appoint a committee of such size as to represent every section of the country, and so constituted as to insure a thorough knowledge of all phases of veterans' activities, to look into and present recommendations designed to eliminate unnecessary benefits and inequities resulting from legislation affecting veterans of all wars, and to study the need for further legislation in its relation to the problem of ever-mounting costs."

He pointed out that the veterans' appropriation, exclusive of $20,850,000 for civil service retirement funds, is almost one billion dollars for the fiscal year.

Gen. Hines said the future problems of the American Legion, in common with the nation, are: unemployment, taxation, national defense, good government and social and economic advancement.

which now bears so heavily on farms."

The nominee said there were too many taxing districts, too many local units of government, too many unnecessary offices and functions.

Must Refinance. He cited the necessity of refinancing farm mortgages if the farmers of the nation are to enjoy prosperity. He pointed out that while the last session of congress did a great deal toward financially stabilizing banks, railroads and industry, practically nothing was done by that body toward removing the destructive menace of debt from farm homes.

"It is my purpose, if elected," he promised his audience, "to direct all the energy of which I am capable to the formulation of definite projects to relieve this distress."

"Specifically," he asserted, "I am prepared to insist that federal credit be extended to banks, insurance or loan companies, or other corporations or individuals which hold farm mortgages among their assets—but that these credits be made on the condition that every reasonable assistance be given to the mortgagors where the loans are sound, with the purpose of preventing foreclosure."

Means of bringing about, through governmental effort, a substantial reduction in the difference between the prices of the things the farmer sells and the things he buys, was declared by the governor to be an immediate necessity.

Support of Plan. "Support of the plan of some plan to put the tariff into effect seems to be found everywhere except in the administration at Washington," he said.

"This official lack of sympathy," Roosevelt asserted, "has probably done more to prevent the development of concrete, generally accepted plans than any other single factor."

He charged that this attitude was more than a failure to assume leadership. "It is an absolute repudiation of responsibility," he said.

He then charged the depression in agriculture began in 1921. Republican leaders first sought to belittle the plight of agriculture and later offered the Fordney-McCumber tariff as a remedy, he said.

Roosevelt went back to the Coolidge regime to seek material for his attack on the present administration.

"The claim that the Republican discriminatory tariff methods are a benefit to the farmer is a cynical and pitiless fraud," he declared.

The nominee demanded that farm board speculation in surpluses be ended, insisting that its stabilizing operations have put a million dollars on the neck of the cooperatives, in addition to squandering hundreds of millions of the taxpayers' money.

BURGLARY CASE VERDICT GOES TO JURY TODAY

The case of George W. McAdoo, accused of burglary in connection with the holdup and robbery of the Smart and Final warehouse last May, went to the jury at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

E. J. McAdoo, brother of the accused man, and Marian Eckrodt, who pleaded guilty to the actual holdup and robbery already have been sentenced to San Quentin and are serving their terms. Both McAdoo and Eckrodt were returned here to testify at George McAdoo's trial.

George McAdoo was employed as a night watchman at the Smart and Final warehouse and was one of the two men held up at a pistol point and bound by Edward McAdoo and Eckrodt while they loaded a truck with cases of cigars. The other watchman who was bound by the robbers was William Reagan.

According to the complaint on which George McAdoo was arrested he had plotted with his brother and Eckrodt to loot the warehouse and transport them in the rear of his automobile into the closed yard and left a side door open so they could enter the warehouse.

E. J. McAdoo, already serving a term in San Quentin, was called as a prosecution witness yesterday and declared on the stand that his brother did not know that he and Eckrodt had concealed themselves in the rear of his car and did not know that they were hiding in the truck yard when he opened the side door of the warehouse. Eckrodt failed to remember anything in connection with the robbery when he was placed on the witness stand.

Attempting to impeach McAdoo, Assistant District Attorney S. B. Kaufman read portions of his testimony at one of the preliminary hearings when E. J. McAdoo testified that he and Eckrodt road in the seat of his brother's automobile to a point near the warehouse when the car was stopped and the two men concealed themselves under the rumble seat.

McAdoo said that he told that story at the second preliminary hearing because police officers had told him then if he persisted in his first story which coincided with that told yesterday his term in prison might be materially lengthened.

Prosecution of the case was handled by Assistant District Attorney Kaufman and Deputy District Attorney Leo E. Frite. D. G. Wetlin represent McAdoo.

A WORD OF COMFORT

A change of clothing does not alter a personality. In essence "death" involves only a laying aside of outward garments, and assuming those which are fit for the occupation of the new day. Your dear one has not changed at heart; only the outer garments are different. The soul is left behind, but the soul lives on triumphantly.

ASVES—September 13, 1932, in Santa Ana, Bernardo Asves, age 68 years. Funeral services, under the direction of Harold A. Brown, will be held at the Spanish Methodist church, 1521 West Third street, at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Interment in Santa Ana cemetery.

The man rents for instance, a $40 apartment. He tenders a check for $50 for the first month's rent, takes $10 in cash as his change and then does not appear again, Howard said.

C. OF C. REFUSES TO ENTER CONTROVERSY

Directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce refused to take sides in the controversy over drilling on tidelands at Huntington Beach which is to be voted on next November when the matter came up for discussion at the regular meeting of the board of directors which was held this morning in the chamber offices.

Secretary George Rayner read a letter from C. E. Wantland, taxation and legislation expert of Los Angeles, which declared that it looks as if a bitter fight would be waged over the matter with some new elements entering into the controversy which did not appear in the referendum vote last spring.

Wantland asked the board of directors to pass a resolution opposing the amendment, but, due to the controversial nature of the question, the directors took no action on the matter.

The local chamber of commerce directors adopted a resolution some time ago opposing the pollution of beaches by tideland drilling.

RED CROSS ORDER FOR COTTON CLOTH FOR NEEDY APPROVED; TO MAKE SHIPMENT THIS WEEK

Needy families in Santa Ana and this section will receive cotton goods from the federal government in the near future it was learned today.

Approval of a requisition sent to the American Red Cross national headquarters, has been received by Terry E. Stephenson, chairman of the Santa Ana Red Cross chapter, in a telegram from Robert E. Bondy, of Washington, D. C.

An order for 5000 yards of gingham has been placed with a vendor in Charlotte, North Carolina, the telegram advised. The goods will be shipped to Santa Ana some time this week.

Because of a shortage in many of the types of cotton goods, the shipments of these goods will be somewhat delayed. As soon as the supply of cloth is available, however, it will be forwarded.

Santa Ana has been granted an order totaling 21,350 yards of cotton cloth. The order is made up of 5000 yards of gingham, 4000 yards of shirting, 4000 yards of outing flannel, 850 yards of birdseye and 5000 yards of prints.

The cloth is being distributed for the government by the American Red Cross. The Santa Ana chapter plans to take care of some of the needs of the southern part of the county, as there are no chapters in that section. Both the Anaheim and Fullerton chapters have placed requisitions for the cloth.

The cloth will be distributed in a manner similar to that used to distribute the government flour to needy families. A special committee will be appointed to work with the county welfare department. The committee plans to meet any situation that may arise, but it is hoped that most families that receive the cloth will be able to make it into garments without aid furnished by welfare departments.

BOURBONS OF COUNTY PLAN VOTE CAMPAIGN

Climaxed by rousing cheers that resounded throughout the courthouse, an enthusiastic group of leading Democrats of the county who are members of the county Democratic central committee, enthusiastically laid plans for a pre-election campaign at the committee organization meeting held yesterday afternoon in the courthouse of department No. 1.

Z. McKinney was re-elected secretary and Ben Bles of Santa Ana was named treasurer to succeed George Edgar, pioneer Santa Ana man who has served on the committee for more than 40 years. Mitchell was nominated by H. C. Head.

All places on the central committee were filled this year with representatives from practically every city in the county, and all of the members were present at the meeting.

An executive committee, to be appointed by the chairman, will have five members, one from each supervisory district. The committee will include the chairman and also will act as a finance committee, to take charge of funds for the campaign.

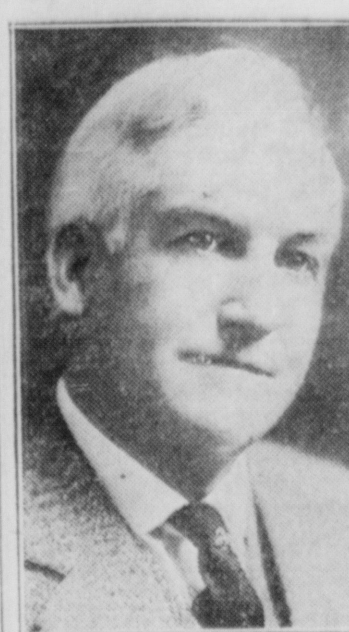

Mayor Paul Witmer, who was elected a member of the central committee at the meeting, showed a group of period maps of Santa Ana and Orange county, and revealed plans for a county-wide canvass of voters before the November election. Following the discussion, members of the committee voted to sponsor the organization of a Roosevelt-Garner club and to establish downtown headquarters for the club. Chairman Mitchell was authorized to appoint a committee of five, one from each supervisory district and including Mitchell, to make arrangements for the formation of the club and to take charge of the campaign.

The committee adopted a motion endorsing the entire Democratic ticket and pledged support to all Democratic candidates.

B. Z. McKinney introduced all members of the committee.

Farm Groups To Hear Leader of Legislative Work

CHESTER GRAY TO SPEAK AT ORANGE H. S.

SPEAKER

Chester H. Gray, of Washington, director of the American Farm Bureau Federation's legislative department, will address a county-wide meeting at the Orange Union High school at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow.

Farm legislation will be discussed tomorrow night at the Orange Union High school at a public meeting sponsored by the Orange County Farm Bureau. Chester H. Gray, director of the American Farm Bureau Federation's legislative department, will be the speaker and will outline his battle during the seventy-second session of congress on behalf of organized farmers.

Gray, who represents agricultural interests in Washington, will tell of some of the legislative battles he experienced during the recent congressional session and will outline the legislative program of the American Farm Bureau Federation. He planned to secure benefits for the farm industry.

"Mr. Gray has devoted many years to advancing unselfishly the interests of American farmers," J. A. Smiley, of the Orange County Farm Bureau, and in charge of the Orange meeting, said today. "His story of how agriculture operates at the national capital to make its wants known is bound to prove of absorbing interest."

Expect Record Crowd
Farmers from Orange county who attend the meeting, and we are expecting a record-breaking crowd, will gain from his talk a new understanding of the dignity of their calling. They will hear a message which would give them new hope and courage to carry on, firm in the faith that eventually America's basic industry is bound to attain its coveted position of standing on a plane, equal socially and economically, to that enjoyed by other national groups.

Smiley pointed out that Gray is familiar with the problems of the California farmer in national legislation and will be prepared to give them special emphasis in his discussion at the Orange High school tomorrow night.

At noon tomorrow Gray will be honor guest and featured speaker at a luncheon to be sponsored by the Orange County Farm Bureau in the Green Cat cafe, Santa Ana. The Farm Bureau is inviting county editors, bankers, members of the board of supervisors and others to attend this affair.

In his talk Gray is expected to outline legislative necessities for the placing of agriculture on the same footing as any other industry and will tell the part the banker, business man and editor can take in the program.

CHANGES MADE IN TALLY OF STRAW VOTES

Marked changes were noted in the second tally of the straw ballots being taken at the Green Cat cafe near Fourth and Main streets.

There was little change in the way the ballots were being cast for president, however. Gov. Franklin Roosevelt continuing his almost 2 to 1 vote over President Hoover.

Meeting in special session this morning, directors of the Ortega Joint Highway district levied a special assessment of $6000 on the district for the purpose of constructing two bridges of the San Juan Capistrano end of the highway between San Juan Hot Springs and Elsinore.

The bridges for which the special assessment was levied is not a portion of the contract recently awarded. They will be constructed under a special bridge contract.

Directors of the district pointed out this morning that the special assessment will not cause any increase in taxes but is in the nature of an advance on next year's apportionment for the work. The money will be advanced at this time and deducted from the amount allowed next year.

The assessment was levied against Orange and Riverside counties and the state of California in the same proportion as all expenses of the work are being borne. Orange county will pay four-ninths of the amount, Riverside county two-ninths, and the state one-third, or three-ninths.

DATE SET FOR LIP READING CLASS OPENING

According to an announcement today by Mrs. Golden Weston, director of adult education for the city schools, the class in lip reading for those whose hearing is affected, will start Monday, September 26. This class meets from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. Mondays and Wednesdays in the school administration building board room, 1612 North Main street.

Work this year will again be under direction of Miss Ruth Bartlett who, it is reported, has exceptional ability in assisting those in need of the ability to read lips.

Last year Mrs. Hugh K. Osborn, a member of the Santa Ana class, won first place in the lip reading tournament of Southern California which was held in Los Angeles.

The major portion of the adult program this year will be held in the evening, Monday and Tuesday evenings at the Junior college, corner of Walnut and Ross streets; Wednesday evenings at Lathrop Junior High school, 1120 South Main street, and Thursday evenings at Willard Junior High school, corner of Washington and Ross streets. There will be opportunities during these four evenings to enroll in classes in English, Spanish, French, commercial subjects, physical education, home economics, arts, crafts and music. More detailed information can be had through the adult education office, phone 1706.

Dear Friends:
The question of the unemployed is the paramount issue of today and we wish to make known our sincere appreciation for the hearty co-operation we have received from the Citizens' Committee and from the Breakfast club, who so readily came to the front and advanced $177.92 to Mr. Henderson, superintendent of schools, and which went a long way toward supplying the immediate needs of students in the city who were not in position to attend school without assistance from some source.

This, indeed, was a commendable act. There are many ways in which the citizens of Santa Ana have shown interest in the above cause and we wish to furnish you with the following information, lest you believe they were unduly influenced or extravagant.

The unemployed of Santa Ana are making a desperate effort to help themselves. You have been informed through the Citizens' Committee that they were able to supply food at a cost of three cents per person per day, which of course would indicate a limited supply, or a mere existence, and there are new applicants every day for this mere existence, indicating that there is still a need that has not been supplied, even with three cents per day.

A human being is somewhat like other beings—if underfed their vitality is low and they seem dissatisfied. Another thing to be considered is that the present low wage received does not afford a living to the average man or woman now employed. The idea seems to be prevalent that they should work for $1 per day rather than be idle, and they should. This would mean $36 per month if they worked every day, and less than five per cent of the adult members of the Unemployed Association have earned that amount per month this year. I wonder if wages should be advanced even now, and if a human being should be fed sufficient to give him strength to do a day's toll. It is not a question of low wages alone, but a question of no wages at all.

The writer has been asked to do some publicity and contact work for the Unemployed Association of Santa Ana and will be glad to meet any person or persons individually or collectively, public or private, who are interested in the above issue, to the end that the unemployed may be able to help themselves.

FARM ADVISOR CRITICIZED AND COMMENDED ON CROP WARNINGS NEED FOR QUALITY FRUIT TOLD

The cause of the present difficulty in marketing surplus oranges came in for considerable discussion at the Placentia Chamber of Commerce meeting yesterday noon, following a statement by S. James Tuffree that the word "surplus" is causing all the trouble, especially when broadcast, written and talked to all parts of the world by Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor.

Tuffree declared that too much talk about the difficulty of marketing the crop is causing that difficulty and others joining in the discussion both for and against the theory presented by Tuffree were R. D. Flaherty, farm bureau secretary, who said the surplus should be considered, and E. J. Menard, who declared that Wahlberg's advice to farmers is appreciated, but "he talks too much and writes too much."

Defends Advisor
Harry Easton, manager of the Placentia Mutual packing house, declared that Wahlberg's presentations of facts cannot hurt, for buyers are interested, and watch markets, crops and government reports, and that Wahlberg's advice for less plantings is good advice, while all transaction should be above board.

Tuffree switched the basis of the argument to the need of the whole packing house business being kept quiet, and suggested that it is not kept from the public because "managers of packing houses like to tell of big returns," while Easton agreed that financial returns should not be published, but

NECK BROKEN: ASKS $50,000 AS DAMAGES

A broken neck, severely wrenched back, numerous bruises and a shock to her nervous system were valued at $50,000 by Mrs. Zora Dermody of Santa Ana in a damage suit filed in superior court. The action named the California Domestic Water company defendant and accused that company of negligence in leaving open ditches across the highway without warning barriers.

In her complaint, Mrs. Dermody charges that on the morning of October 9 last, she was driving her automobile along Whittier boulevard between Hyatt and Cypress streets when it ran into a deep cut across the pavement and turned over. She charges that water company employees had made the ditch and failed to protect motorists either by a warning light or barrier.

Her car struck the ditch with such force that she lost control and it left the highway before turning over. Mrs. Dermody's neck was broken and she received other injuries in the accident.

DATE RECALLS ROMANCE IN OLD ENGLAND

Yesterday, September 13, was of special significance in the family circle of Mrs. Jennie Ellis and her brother, Frank Pilcher, 304 North Olive street, and they gazed with reverence upon a time-yellowed paper which registered it as the date nearly three quarters of a century ago, when their parents, John William Pilcher and Elizabeth Banks, were wedded in England, their native land.

This wedding and other matters of personal interest to the descendants of that long ago bride and groom of "Merrie England," were recalled recently when the descendants of John William Pilcher and his wife Elizabeth, staged a reunion at the Wayside Colony in Long Beach, and gazed upon the ancient stage coach which is one of the prized curios of the Colony, and which used to bear John William Pilcher when he rode from London to Dover to see his pretty English sweetheart.

It was in that identical coach that he made those frequent trips and it was that same coach, delegated to carry the mail between the two cities, that bore to the girl Elizabeth, the very valentine, lace-bordered and fragile with age, which today is one of the possessions of Mrs. Ellis. It is dated February, 1847, and as it sped from London to Dover, its path must have crossed the companion miasma, also owned by the Santa Ana woman, which the young man had chosen to send his sweetheart.

It was in the following year that the young people were wedded, and the certificate, signed by the Vicar of Lydden, reads "I certify that John William Pilcher of the parish of Maidston, bachelor, and Elizabeth Banks of the parish of Lydden, spinster, were married in the parish church of Lydden on Wednesday, the thirteenth day of September, 1847."

Descendants of this union who enjoyed recalling family history as they gathered around the ancient stage coach in the Wayside Colony were from Long Beach, Fallbrook, and other Southland communities while from this vicinity were Mrs. Ellis and Frank Pilcher, daughter and son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Pilcher, and Miss Bertha Pilcher of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Robinson and children, Elizabeth, Dorothy and Billy Robinson of Tustin.

Mrs. Jennie Ellis has lived in this city for more than 30 years.

MURDER MYSTERY AT WALKER STATE

Attaining a new standard of perfection for mystery melodramas, "The Thirteenth Guest," Monogram screen presentation of Armitage Trail's published murder mystery opens tonight at Walker's State theater.

Opening in an abandoned house where a mysterious death had taken place at a dinner party thirteen years before, the plot immediately plunges Ginger Rogers, the heroine, into the midst of one of the weirdest and most unusual mysteries ever presented on the local screen.

With two murders to account for in the opening sequence, suspicion is directed in rapid-fire fashion to all of the surviving guests of the fatal dinner party, and the solution comes in a sensational climax engineered by Lyle Talbot, who plays the role of a debonair young private investigator.

RAILS

The Administration and railroad labor are privately cooking up some nice medicine for the railroads.

They hope to force the carriers to take those R. F. C. loans for maintenance improvements. That would afford new railroad employment possibilities. It might open the way for an agreement on a 10 per cent wage cut—but not the 20 per cent the roads are demanding.

The administration is secretly all for the idea. It has been annoyed at the roads since they spurned Mr. Hoover's program. Labor leaders have such a counter proposal in the back of their heads and will probably spring it before long.

We appear to be drifting toward a general railroad strike, but we are not. The unions are not in too good shape. They have suffered from the depression like everyone else.

Processors of the Railway Labor act would probably prevent a strike even if the unions were belligerent under the law there must be negotiations which could be strung out long enough for all of us to die of old age.

SUPREME COURT

The Chief Justice does not stand as high on the inside of the Supreme Court as he does on the outside.

The recent expose of a nationally-read book on that subject was inaccurate. The book tried to say Mr. Hughes dominated the court and influenced its decisions unduly.

The exact opposite is true. Some of his comrades on the court do not care for his stern judicial temperament after the joviality of William Howard Taft. If Hughes influences them it is in an antagonistic way.

The way in which their secret votes are taken belies the story. They vote backwards in rank. The newest member votes first. The Chief Justice votes last.

Great secrecy surrounds these things, but this much can be told without getting in contempt of court.

The book is obviously in contempt. Justices have been trying to find out where it got its facts, some of which are correct. The possibility of contempt action has been considered and discarded as beneath the dignity of the court.

Another sour note in the exposé is the story that Justice Reynolds went to President Hoover to protest against the Cardozo appointment. What Mr. Reynolds thinks about Mr. Hoover comes very near to being libel. He would never go to see the President under any circumstances.

DEBTS

The foreign debt situation has veered around underneath. Foreign nations, particularly France, are trying now to help keep it out of the campaign. They are whispering they might pay after all.

You can be sure of one thing. Mr. Hoover and everyone else in the know here would drop dead from shock if anyone really were to pay.

The new inside situation has been created because the Treasury got itself in a very embarrassing position.

Secretary Mills had been planning privately all along to shove the thing off to Congress. He thought he could take foreign refusals to pay and save them as memoirs for Congress.

Later his legal advisers told him that could NOT be done unless 90 days notice of default was given by our debtors. They said he would have to make an executive decision on whether the default notices should be accepted.

The latest was that the legal advisers were at work trying to find a loop-hole in their own decision so Mr. Mills can avoid taking sides. They probably will discover one.

All the confidential dickering is being carried on with the utmost sociability. The foreigners understand our predicament. They want to keep the debts out of the campaign as well as everyone else. They are sympathetic with the Administration. They feel they know what to expect from Mr. Hoover after election. He has made his willingness to negotiate quite clear. To them Roosevelt is an unknown quantity. They privately fear what he might do.

NOTES

Inside arrangements were being made last week to have the R. F. C. take over the Farm Board revolving fund... That puts the Farm Board on the shelf... Congressmen are hearing down on the R. F. C. in droves for loans to finance their pet projects in home districts... There have been some private complaints from them that the Corporation is too tight with its money... The price of so-called drinking alcohol dropped from $7 bid and $8 asked to $4 bid and received just as the prohibitionists met here last week... Bootleggers started a price-cutting war... The effect was almost disastrous for several customers... They reported the cheaper grade stuff centered its attack in the back of the neck, having the same effect as an airplane hitting that spot.

MAYORALTY

Governor Roosevelt and Mayor McKee between them have done more damage to Jimmy Walker in two weeks than the Seabury investigation did in two years. Business leaders are delighted with the manner in which McKee is taking hold of his job. He is frequently referred to as "the answer to a business man's prayer." A section of Tammany is flabbergasted by the unexpected turn of events.

Al Smith's attitude is the key to the tangled maze. A declaration on his part is expected shortly. It is certain that it will not be favorable to Walker and there is an even chance that it may be a boost for McKee. Several indications seem to point that way.

There is no doubt that Walker was double-crossed to some extent. Assurances given him before his resignation will not be carried out. Curry is in a tight spot. Walker put him where he is. If the Boss starts by the ex-mayor the ensuing jam may cost Curry the leadership. If he flops, Manhattan will take a back seat and let Brooklyn or the Bronx do the driving.

The Committee of 1000 (James E. Finegan of this organization was one of those who filed charges against Walker) is looking for a fusion candidate it can back at the forthcoming election. Several prospective candidates have been approached but no one desirable wants the heroic and thoroughly unprofitable job. The Committee is hoping that Tammany will still back Walker and that McKee will run against him. That would give them an ideal setup for their anti-Tammany campaign.

NEW YORK CITY

If McKee can swing his project of building the 35th Street tunnel without R. F. C. help the political implications are tremendous. Several powerful Tammany bosses who are now sitting neutral might swing to Roosevelt's side of the fence. McKee is very much a Roosevelt man.

More than 30 per cent of the voters in New York pay municipal taxes only indirectly and are proportionately sluggish on tax squandering.

New York City bonds have regained their popularity in very high financial quarters. Buying is coming from sources that have not looked at a city bond in years.

TAMMANY

The feud between Tammany and Leader Flynn of the Bronx—Roosevelt's city ace—is much more than skin deep. Flynn's political career began as a protégé of Tammany. When he moved to the Bronx he violated the unwritten code by working for himself instead of for the organization.

BRAZIL

A New York bank with excellent South American connections says that a large arms shipment recently sent from Argentina to Paraguay is really destined for the Brazilian rebels. If the rebels declare themselves a free and independent state Argentina will be the first to recognize them.

COFFEE

The coffee shortage due to the revolution is much more acute than is generally supposed. Several large American distributors have only a few weeks' supply left. Expert opinion holds that the revolution is apt to last a long time yet. Seventy per cent of the coffee used in this country comes from blockaded Santos. Most of the rest comes from Bogota. Bogota coffee is milder in quality and could not possibly make up the difference in the supply required for the American market.

Certain large food companies are buying wheat in anticipation of an increasing demand for cereal beverages later. The coffee situation also accounts for a large part of the recent boom in cocoa.

DIVORCE SUIT AIRS TROUBLES OF CAFE MAN

Charging that her husband even assisted a competitor in business, Mrs. Ida Soullies, of Buena Park, has filed suit for divorce from her husband Peter N. Soullies, Buena Park restaurant proprietor. Mrs. Soullies, in addition to a decree of divorce is asking for alimony of $75 per month.

She lists community property valued at $10,000 consisting of a lot in Buena Park worth $7000, restaurant fixtures worth $2500, an automobile and household furniture.

According to her complaint when she married Soullies in 1925 she had $900 which she invested in the lot at Buena Park upon her husband's promise that as soon as their restaurant business was established and the property paid for he would repay her the money she had invested. This, she charges, was never done. They separated in 1930 and entered into a property agreement whereby she was to receive $4200 paid in installments and securities were placed in escrow with a Fullerton bank to assure payment.

Later, according to her complaint, when her husband was behind in his payments to her he induced her to return to him and took the property out of escrow. Since that time, she alleges he has treated her cruelly.

He conspired with his brother, who was employed in their restaurant, to file a claim for wages allegedly due him, the plaintiff further asserted. This claim was turned down by the labor commissioner. After the trial Soullies, according to his wife, attempted to persuade her to sell the restaurant to his brother. When she refused to do this the brother opened a cafe next door and her husband assisted him to the extent of typing menus and mixing hot cake batter for the operation cafe. She also accused her husband of associating with other women and with calling her vile names.

OUIMET BREAKS RECORD, BEATS VOIGT

Dons May Play Night Football At Bowl October 1

LOYOLA FROSH CONTEST UNDER ARCS PROBABLE

Night football in Santa Ana within two weeks?

Under the arc lights of Municipal bowl—where record crowds have thronged to witness baseball, wrestling, motorcycle and drum corps exhibitions—Santa Ana Jaycee and Loyola university freshmen will meet in a practice game October 1, provided plans which Coach Bill Cook of the Dons submitted today to D. K. Hammond, president of the junior college, receive official approval.

Paul Witmer, mayor, and G. A. Oliver, head of the Santa Ana physical education department, have assured Cook that to make such an event possible they will offer full co-operation.

Additional lights, if needed in the north section of the bowl, could be installed by the city at nominal cost, according to Mayor Witmer, who believes a large delegation of football fans would attend.

Cook plans to place goal posts at the south and north ends of the bowl, such an arrangement accommodating more than 3000 persons in the grandstand section directly east of the south goal. If necessary, bleachers could be strung along the east sidelines.

When asked what admission prices would prevail, the Don mentor stated that a charge of 25 cents probably would be made. The reduced fare, he believes, would increase attendance and afford more fans an opportunity to inspect the 1932 Dons.

High in the opinion that night football will "click" in Santa Ana, Coach Cook sees this opportunity to place the junior college squad on a more sound financial basis and at the same time give fans an interesting football program.

The Santa Ana-Loyola game here October 1 replaces a contest which Pasadena previously had with the Dons. Santa Ana opens its season against the U. S. C. Frosh in a curtain-raiser to the U. S. C.-Utah game in Olympic stadium one week from Saturday.

Bill Bouldin, former Anaheim Hi backfield star, and Gene Gruber, 195-pound fullback from Inglewood, have turned in their football togs at Santa Ana Jaycee after an unsuccessful attempt to find part-time employment here. They were considered two of Coach Bill Cook's finest backfield prospects.

Offered employment there, Gruber will enroll at Riverside and is expected to join the inland squad in mountain practice at Idyllwild this week. Coach Jesse Mortensen's Tigres champions of the old Eastern division in 1929-30-31, will return to Riverside Saturday prepared to resume drill the following Monday on home grounds.

Bouldin, visiting Poly field yesterday, thanked Cook for the several attempts to find work for him, and said that he was leaving for his home in Arizona. He said he would return to the Don institution in 1933.

Claude ("Swede") Williams, playing defensive guard in practice yesterday, smeared play after play. According to Cook, the former blocking back for Santa Ana Hi looks about as good as any guard candidate on the field.

Harold Welty, quarter; Captain Jim Hall and Fred Bell, halfbacks; and Wally Smith, full, composed Cook's offensive backfield in drill yesterday. Jimmie Lash and "Gib" Meisinger, ends; Harold Benton and Jack Fredericks, tackles; Leroy DeSmet and Palmer Stoddard.

THE MYSTERY MEN OF SAINTVILLE! WILL THEY BRING ANOTHER CHAMPIONSHIP HERE?

Eighty-one, count 'em yourself—constituted Santa Ana Hi's football turnout yesterday. That included the coaching staff but didn't take in some 14 candidates who were not in suit for one reason or another. The squad is the largest in Saint history. Those in the picture, from left to right:

Paul to Assist Cook With College Squad

Howard Paul, former nationally known broad-jumper for the University of Southern California, will assist Coach Bill Cook handle the Santa Ana junior college football squad this season.

Preparing for a regular coaching position, Paul wants to know more about football which he has not played seriously since his high school days here.

Cook's aide last year was Bob Gowder. In 1930 it was George Dye.

'BULL' HEFFNER WOULD BAR NO HOLDS ON MAT

"Bull" Heffner, the rough and tumble Texan heavyweight who meets "Tex" Wright in one of Promoter Elmer Willson's Orange County Athletic club wrestling matches tomorrow night, may ask to have his bout billed as a "no-holds-barred" affair.

Noted as one of the most dangerous "roughers" in the wrestling ranks, Heffner believes that every bout he engages in should be a give-and-take melee, whether or not agreeable to his opponent.

Two weeks ago Heffner appeared in California's first sanctioned "no-holds-barred" grappling battle and since then wants to make all his matches with the understanding that everything "goes".

Whether Wright will agree to Heffner's demands is not known, but it is doubtful. The former Ventura motorcycle officer knows his chances would be cut to a minimum were he to okay the "Bull's" proposal.

Many smart wrestling fans are of the opinion that the Wright-Heffner duel will result in the fastest and wildest match of the night. They meet in the three-fall, 45 minute semi to the Hardy Kruskamp-"Indian Jules" Strong-

HI'S FOOTBALL TURNOUT IS 90 BREAKS RECORD

Football may be for the few, as some reformers still harangue, but such a situation does not exist at Santa Ana high school this semester.

An even 90 candidates, approximately one-fifth of the school's entire male "population," was enrolled today on Coach "Tex" Oliver's Class A squad alone. About fifty more are affiliated with the Saint Class B and C teams.

All-time records have been smashed to smithereens by the 1932 "varsity" turnout. The past peak mark was approximately 75 established last year when Santa Ana went on to win the Southern California championship.

This year's roster lists 25 backs, 21 tackles, 18 ends, 18 guards and 3 centers. More sophomores than ever before are identified with the squad.

The entire personnel of the team follows:

Centers—Waite Davis, Richard DeSmet, Herb Duncan, Bill Fairly, Alfred Halderman, Dick Hubbard, Dave Youel, Harold Avery.

Ends—Charles Bain, Clarence Bolton, Bruce Echols, Homer Edwards, Jim Gruettner, Earle Harris, Walter Hendrix, Willie Jones, Joe Koral, Elmer Manning, Myron Newton, Carl Schultz, William Jones, Charles Bain, Al Manning, Clarence Bolton, Fred Weimer, Jim Gruettner, Byron Nett, Eugene Wood, Alfred Oliphant, Walt Hendrix, Earle Harris, Sudduth, Max Wilson, student coach.

Santa Ana's game with Orange Hi, officially opening the 1932 pigskin program here, will be played at Poly field Saturday, September 24, rather than Friday, September 23.

The date of the conflict, hitherto somewhat uncertain, was definitely arranged today by Coaches Oliver and Stewart White.

Blond Art Stranske was the whole show at Poly field yesterday. Working at fullback on the Saint first string, the tow-headed terror paralyzed a second string line with the force of his line-plunging. He ran through it and over it, and around it when necessary.

Weighing between 167 and 170, Stranske looks for all the world like Jim Musick when Musick was Santa Ana's pulverizing fullback in 1927. Only Stranske, although as yet untested in fast company, is supposedly a better kicker and passer than "Big Jim" although perhaps not as fast getting up to the line which was really the secret of Musick's success.

WEST WINDS Here and There in Local Sport By EDDIE WEST

Now virtually in the sports promotion business, the city of Santa Ana has averaged $300 a month in percentages since opening the improved Municipal Bowl.

Baseball, from which the trustees extracted 20 per cent of gross receipts, yielded $1042.50. Motorcycle racing, contributing 10 per cent, subscribed $201.28. Wrestling furnished $49.25. The total intake was $1293.03.

There is more than a remote possibility that the Pacific Southwest tournament, beginning in Los Angeles Friday, will be the last serious tennis competition for Santa Ana's Josephine Cruickshank, No. 1 in Southern California, No. 5 in the United States.

Tennis—first flight tennis, at least—requires constant, continuous practice; diligent practice against highly efficient players. Living here, it has been increasingly difficult for Miss Cruickshank to obtain this type of practice, and unless she has time to pursue this rigorous training next year it is understood she'll abandon competitive tennis altogether.

There may be no more intensive campaigning—Eastern tours and such—after this season.

Miss Cruickshank is conceded a good chance of winning the Pacific Southwest tourney. In 1931 she was runner-up to Mrs. L. A. Harper, losing after taking the first set.

"Big Bill" Jones and a few associates are all set to cash in on any change of heart the state's electorate may register this November on pari-mutuel wagering. His huge bulk well known to Orange county's sporting fraternity, Jones for years has been chief timekeeper at any and all boxing and wrestling events hereabouts. Now he is branching out.

Jones has been unostentatiously operating a little horse track between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach for several months. The class of the entertainment has been surprisingly good, and the interest of many old-time horsemen has been revived.

If the state accepts the pari-mutuel bill, Jones is prepared to run his plant on a more pretentious scale with actual wagering an added attraction.

A word to the wise is superfluous.

Coach "Tex" Oliver and his champion Santa Anans should not go to San Diego October 15, thinking their Herbert Hoover Hi game a mere exhibition leading up to the more important San Diego Hi league game in San Diego two weeks later.

For the information of Oliver and his merry men, it is stated that Hoover Hi retained 18 lettermen from a squad that last year won the Southern league.

Hoover may be tougher for Santa Ana than Roosevelt.

A "Local Boy Makes Good" angle earned motorcycle promoters and Ted King considerable publicity here for two weeks.

Then King had to go and get himself hurt, spoil everything. They hauled him out of the Bowl in an ambulance and when King got to the hospital he gave his address as 3746 Falcon avenue, Long Beach.

ANAHEIM BEATS RIVERSIDE IN OPENER, 3 TO 0

Scoring all its runs in a wild eighth inning rally, Anaheim defeated Riverside, 3 to 0, in the opening game of the Southern California night baseball championship series at Colton last night. The attendance approximated 3000.

Aside from this one spasmodic outburst, the first affray was a brilliant pitcher's battle between Anaheim's "Fuzzy" Errington and Riverside's "Slim Jim" Duncan, veteran hero of the 1929 series. Errington had the better of it all the way, limiting the inland champions to three hits, all doubled, with nobody getting beyond second base.

Duncan kept his blows beautifully scattered until the eighth when Anaheim manufactured three runs on as many hits. With one down, McNabb singled in field and Bell singled over second. Schrott's infield out advanced both runners. Al Kohler blasted a sharp ground ball between first and second, going for a double when Burgess made a desperate but vain effort to intercept the flying sphere which caromed off Burgess' glove into foul territory. Kohler tallied when Bevington muffed Schuchardt's fly.

The second game of the series will be at Anaheim Friday. Santa Ana fans may procure tickets at Vic Walker's store.

The box score:

Anaheim	Riverside
McNabb 2b 5 1 2	Unland rf 4 0 1

Oliver Turns Author For Magazine

G. A. ("Tex") Oliver, head of the Santa Ana physical education department, has turned journalist, and in a general article for the October issue of the California Physical Education and Health Journal will outline reasons why his Santa Ana high school eleven won the Southern California prep football title in 1931.

The monthly magazine is edited by the Health and Physical Education association of Southern California. Oliver's article will be illustrated with pictures taken during his championship reign.

Charles Yates of Atlanta eliminated Eric McRuvie of Scotland, 3 and 2. McRuvie was one of the two foreign players who qualified for the match play.

Sidney Noyes of Ardley, N. Y., eliminated Chris Brinke of Philadelphia, 1 up. Noyes sank a 20-foot putt for a birdie three to win the 18th hole and match. Noyes was to play Oulmet in the afternoon's second round.

Charley Seaver of Los Angeles, youthful member of the U. S. Walker Cup team, moved ahead over Johnny Robbins of Portland, Ore., 6 and 4. Seaver was out in 32, three below par, and parred each of the incoming holes played.

Johnny Goodman, Omaha ace, defeated H. Chandler Egan of Del Monte, Cal., 3 and 2, in the last first round match to be completed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(INS)—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight boxing champion of the world, sailed today for France with his son, Gene Lauder Tunney. They will join Mrs. Tunney, who is ill in Paris. Mrs. Tunney was operated on in the American hospital there today for the removal of a mastoid. Doctor Leme, who performed the operation, reported his patient was "doing well."

License Case Is Won by Fishermen

COSTA MESA, Sept. 14.—The case of Jim Paschal, of Costa Mesa, and that of Luke Ozena, of Newport Beach, fishermen, who were cited by L. G. Van Vorhis and Norman C. Kunkle, deputy commissioners from the office of the state fish and game warden, for fishing in the ocean waters in the neighborhood of Newport Beach without the proper license, was heard yesterday in the Costa Mesa justice court in a jury trial. The entire forenoon session was used in picking a jury.

Following several heated arguments both at the time of examining the witnesses and during the pleas to the jury by the attorneys, the case was submitted to the jury, which after 30 minutes brought in a verdict of not guilty. They operate a live bait boat and it was declared that they were exempt from the license provisions.

W. C. T. U. WILL WORK FOR DRYS FOR CONGRESS

ORANGE, Sept. 14.—Pledging themselves to active participation in a congressional campaign, members of the Orange W. C. T. U. met yesterday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church. The members agreed that the election of dry representatives to congress is the main objective of the prohibition forces in the coming campaign. A wet legislature can do more harm than a wet president, they brought out.

Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, of this city, a temperance worker of note, was the speaker of the day. Her theme was the national W. C. T. U. convention held at Seattle, Wash. She voiced her approval of the messages given the gathering by Victoria Booth Damarest. This included the statements that perhaps America has not had enough of the depression and there has been too much stress put upon education rather than learning; people have been moved by sentimentality rather than real emotionalism; the Christian people have been too lazy to stand up for their convictions; Americans have permitted ego to overshadow their belief in God.

Mrs. Hess discussed wet propaganda which appears in newspapers and various publications of the day. She urged members to send in letters of disapproval to editors who publish such articles and to write letters of commendation to editors upholding the dries in their campaign.

She displayed literature which one of the wet candidates to congress is using in his campaign. The pamphlet bears a picture of Abraham Lincoln together with a statement concerning prohibition which Lincoln did not make, Mrs. Hess brought out. The dries should voice their disapproval of such propaganda, she stated. On display at the meeting yesterday was a paper published in the Philippine Islands, with one entire page devoted to the correction of a wrong impression of prohibition given by a cartoonist in a Los Angeles paper. The original drawing had shown "prohibition" as a dog whose pups were racketeering, bootlegging, vice, etc. The corrected cartoon used statistics to show that better living conditions for children and adults as well, an increase in bank savings, etc., were born of prohibition.

During the business session, in charge of the president, Mrs. Minnie Neville, directors of the local union were named. They are Mrs. Clara Sumner, evangelist; Mrs. Clara Elliott, flower mission; Miss Carrie Heywood and Mrs. O. U. Hull, medical temperance; Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, scientific instruction; Mrs. Neville, social morality; Mrs. Sarah Meyer, Sunday school work; Mrs. Flora Ralph, temperance and missions; Mrs. Angeline Courtney, Union Signal and Young Crusader; Mrs. Emily Reed, director of its work; Mrs. Emma Nickell, parliamentary usage.

Members who can spare canned fruit, white rags or other supplies, were asked to contribute them to the supplies for the Frances Willard home. If they take them to the home of Mrs. Neville, she will see that they are taken to the home, it was announced.

Among the books which can be obtained from Mrs. Reed, the new director of literature, is "Prohibition Facts," compiled for Allied Forces of Prohibition by W. G. Calderwood.

Following group singing, devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Sumner.

WONDERS WHY IT IS THAT ON ORDINARY DAYS HE GOES TO SLEEP FOR HIS NAP ON TIME AND WAKES UP ON TIME

BUT ON SPECIAL DAYS WHEN HE SORT OF FEELS THAT MOTHER WANTS HIM TO GO TO SLEEP QUICKLY -

SO THAT HE'LL BE AWAKE LATER ON WHEN VISITORS OR RELATIVES COME -

AND WANT TO SEE HIM -

HE NEVER FEELS SLEEPY -

ALL THE TIME OF HIS NAP -

UNTIL JUST AT THE VERY LAST -

WHEN IT'S ALMOST TIME FOR MOTHER TO PEEK IN AND SEE IF HE'S AWAKE -

AND THEN HE GOES SOUND ASLEEP AND DOESN'T OPEN AN EYE FOR TWO HOURS

4-H DELEGATES RETURN FROM STATE SESSION

Orange county delegates to the seventeenth annual convention of the Boys' and Girls' 4-H clubs of California, which returned home from Davis, have been very busy in addition to the conferences and technical demonstrations by experts in the breeds and management of livestock and poultry, home furnishing and clothing, first aid and camping and electricity, the delegates were privileged to attend the state fair at Sacramento, where a parade of the 1000 delegates were held before the grandstand.

En route home, the Orange county delegation visited the campus of the University of California at Berkeley, and especially the headquarters of the Agricultural Extension Service in California. A ferry-boat ride across the bay and a walk up Market street in San Francisco completed the sight-seeing. The Orange, Los Angeles, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial county groups went on the same train, stopping at Sacramento to visit the state capital and to meet the governor in his office before taking the special train for Davis.

A feature of the convention was the running of the program by the senior members. This group is composed of regular 4-H members who have been in the work five years or more and are over 15 years of age. The Orange county senior member who attended, Norman Foss, of Yorba Linda, was captain of Company "E." This organization of white-capped seniors functioned perfectly and the entire convention ran off as smoothly as could be desired.

Those attending from Orange county were Ivan Conner, Norma Rowley and R. E. Lauer, of La Habra; Ray Jamerell and E. E. Eastman, of Santa Ana; Norman Foss and Mrs. N. W. Reneker, of Yorba Linda; Donald Knack, Ruth Greenwald, Evelyn Witt and H. J. Hinrichs, of West Orange; Donald Wakeham and F. A. Bumgardner, of Garden Grove; Jack Soldan and Elizabeth Hughes, of Anaheim; Bertha Belle Smith and Dorothy Leonard, of Tustin.

NAME LEADERS FOR STUDY OF GOVERNMENT

Otis H. Barr, community chairman of the United States society, a nation-wide movement for the spread of knowledge of government which is now in process of organization here, today announced the appointment of an executive committee for Santa Ana.

Members are Judge H. G. Ames, J. P. Baumgartner, J. F. Burke, C. S. Crookshank, D. K. Hammond, George D. Newcom, Dr. J. E. Paul, George S. Smith, T. E. Stephenson, the Rev. George A. Warner, Col. M. B. Wellington, and George A. Raymer. Within the next few days letters will be sent to a number of Santa Ana residents inviting them to become members of the society's founders committee.

The United States society was conceived by a number of Americans well known in national affairs, as a project for combatting ignorance and indifference toward government and to build up an informed electorate. On its board of advisers are Calvin Coolidge, Elihu Root, Newton D. Baker, John Grier Hibben and Owen D. Young. It is non-partisan and non-political.

The importance of the work of the United States society was brought out by an experiment conducted some time ago at Harvard university, according to a statement issued here today by the society.

"A Harvard professor," says the society's statement, "made a test to ascertain the interest exhibited by his class in national affairs. The day after President Hoover's message to Congress was printed in the newspapers he asked how many in the class had read it. Only two replied that they had read the message and one or two more said they intended to read it when they had time. In discussing this statement before a number of instructors in political science, it was said that this example was only too typical and that students very seldom made use of current information in their studies or their discussions."

"The work of the United States Society is to strike at the very root of this trouble. By means of the bulletins which it will furnish the schools there will be placed before the students current information on government in such an attractive and interesting form that they cannot help but absorb it."

"It is doubtful if the people of any other country in the world, whose intelligence is as high as the average in America, exhibit greater indifference toward government matters and more ignorance concerning government functions. This is not due to lack of patriotism, nor is it due to the subject itself. Government is live and interesting. The United States Society has demonstrated by practical experiment that students can be interested in the affairs of their country. We have the testimony of hundreds of teachers and others who have observed the response and the interest shown in the material which The United States Society distributes."

Organization work similar to that which is being done here is now going on in more than half the states in the Union.

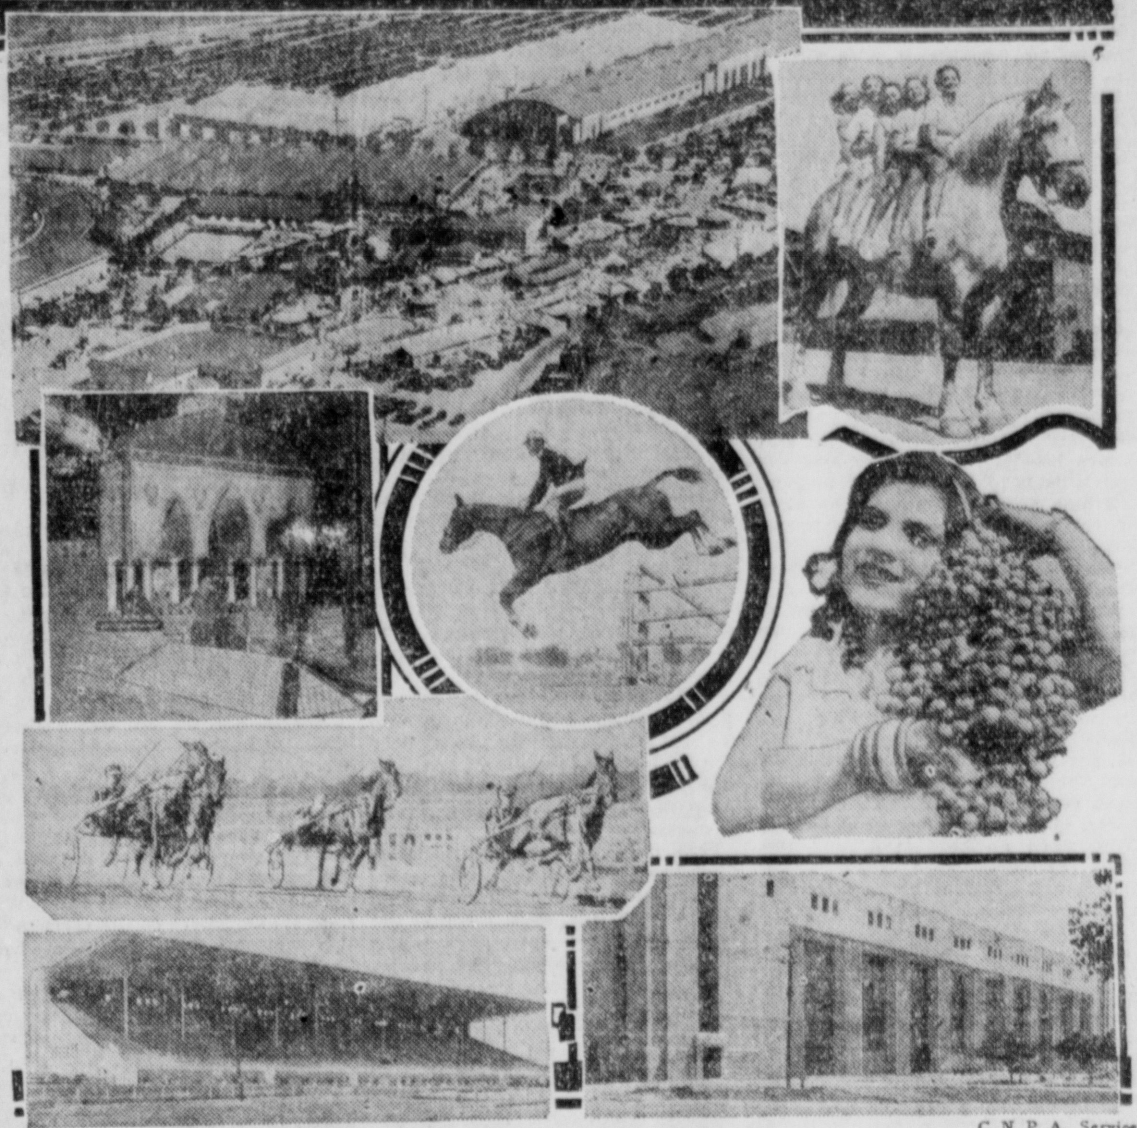

GAIN RECORDED IN SUGAR BEET LAND

The total acreage planted to sugar beets in 1932 in the United States, Canada and Europe, including Russia, is estimated at $282,288 acres, according to the latest estimates received from official sources and the International Institute of Agriculture. This estimate indicates an increase of 3.9 per cent over 1931, when 2,794,724 acres were harvested, according to the farm advisor's office, excluding Russia, a decrease of 7.3 per cent from last year is indicated.

The acreage planted to sugar beets in the United States is placed at 813,000 acres as compared with last year's planted acreage of 715,000 acres. The total European sugar beet acreage is now estimated at 7,422,288 acres or slightly below the previously published total of 7,556,594 acres. Decreases from the early estimates occur in Great Britain, Netherlands, Belgium, France, Spain, Czechoslovakia and Russia, while Italy, Hungary and Bulgaria report slight increases over the early estimates. The planted acreage in Russia as of July 1, is reported at 4,041,000 acres which is 97.9 per cent of the plan and shows an increase of 18.8 per cent over 1931. The sugar beet acreage sown in Russia in 1931 was 3,400,590 acres or almost half of the total European sugar beet acreage harvested. Serious crop losses occurred, however, due to a delayed and inefficient harvest. Lithuania is now included among European beet sugar producing countries.

HOWARD WARNS MOTORISTS AT SCHOOL ZONES

Motorists who do not slow down for school crossings and in school zones are to be given the limit if the Santa Ana police department has anything to say about it.

According to instructions given by Chief of Police F. W. Howard to the city motorcycle officers, the school zones must be protected, even if all the remainder of the city has to go without protection.

Howard has a hobby of "working" school zones and officers have their instructions to make wholesale arrests where the law is not obeyed in connection with school zones.

"Children need protection. They are not capable of thinking like grownups and it's up to the department to give them all the protection possible," he said.

"Therefore, Santa Ana officers have been instructed to enforce the school zone and crossing laws to the letter and we will prosecute every single case to the utmost," he said.

The section of law pertaining to school zones is as follows: "It shall be lawful for the driver of a vehicle to drive the same at a speed not exceeding the following: 15 miles an hour when passing a school building or the ground thereof during school recess or while children are going to or leaving school during opening or closing hours, or while playgrounds of any such school are in use by school children."

PLAN DINNER, RECEPTION FOR BISHOP BAKER

Orange county Methodist churches will unite in staging a banquet and reception to Bishop James Chamberlain Baker, of San Francisco, which will be held in Santa Ana sometime next week, it was announced today by the Rev. Crawford Trotter of Yorba Linda, secretary of the Orange County Fellowship of Methodist Ministers.

September 21 has been set as a tentative date for the banquet and reception, which is to be held at the Santa Ana church, although definite details are to be worked out later.

Bishop Baker is the newly appointed executive of the San Francisco area. He was transferred from Korea and other oriental points to take charge of the work of his church on the Pacific slope. His area covers all of California, Arizona, part of Nevada and the Hawaiian Islands.

Through arrangements made by the Rev. Dr. George A. Warner of the First Methodist church of Santa Ana, and Dr. J. A. Geisinger, district superintendent of San Diego district, the lay and ministerial groups of Orange county Methodism were able to complete plans to secure the presence of the bishop at an informal social occasion in the county. Official boards from every Methodist church in Orange county will be present as also many members not in official connections.

The report shows there were seven persons in court who paid fines or installments on fines on drunk charges. A total of $68 was collected from these.

Only one was arrested for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor and the number of "drunks" dwindled down to 15 for the month. There was one reckless driving case reported and two arrested for arson. One burglar was arrested, the report shows.

The department answered 369 calls during the month.

Total amount of property reported stolen amounted to $2912.70 and the police department recovered $1866.00 of that.

There were 10 automobiles reported stolen in Santa Ana in August and 10 recovered. There were 10 bicycles stolen from city streets and four recovered for their owners.

According to word received yesterday by R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the Orange County Farm Bureau the citrus departments of the San Bernardino, Riverside and Los Angeles County Farm Bureaus are being reorganized this year for the purpose of co-operating in the pro rata marketing plan for handling oranges.

Flaherty said that in the past the citrus departments of the three Farm Bureaus had directed their efforts along production lines. This year because of the condition of the citrus market they decided to direct their activities along marketing lines.

Annual Reception for Students Planned By Faculty

So that new students of Santa Ana junior college and members of the faculty may know each other outside of the classroom, the junior college faculty is holding its annual reception Friday night at 8 o'clock in Ebell clubhouse. This greatly anticipated affair is not only for the newest members of the student body but for every one enrolled at Jaycee.

An extremely interesting program has been arranged, according to Miss Lella Watson, who as program chairman has turned the entire arrangements over to Earl Fraser. Mr. Fraser is planning to play a group by modern American composers and contemporary Spanish composers. He has also secured Hayden Rolander, tenor, who he will accompany.

Installation Takes Place at Union Meeting

Installation of new officers took place yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the W. C. T. U. held in Spurgeon Memorial church. Those present were Mrs. Amy Evans, president; Mrs. Edna Nicholson, first vice president; Mrs. Margaret McClelland, second vice president; Mrs. Edith Moore, recording secretary; Mrs. Purington, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. Edna Leonard, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Wager, assistant treasurer.

Although Mrs. Evans was not present for the opening of the session, she surprised members by arriving from the east later in the afternoon. In her absence, Mrs. McClelland had presided over the meeting.

The organization received an invitation to hold their meetings in the United Presbyterian church of this city, beginning October 4. A vote of thanks was extended the Spurgeon Memorial officials for the use of that church during the past year.

Directors of the union gave annual reports. Announcement was made that the state board of strategy had endorsed the Rev. Bob Shuler.

The incorporated body of the W. C. T. U. held its annual meeting following. Officers elected at this time included Mrs. Anna Scott, Mrs. Edna Nicholson, Mrs. Josephine Flood, Miss Sordella Cullison, Mrs. Edna Leonard, Mrs. Edith Moore and Mrs. Mina Tidball.

Old County Families United By Wedding In Hollywood

A history of the early days of Orange county's development seems interwoven with the story of the marriage in Hollywood on Sunday evening, September 4, of Ray Palmer Thelan, only grandson of Mrs. G. J. Mosbaugh, 626 North Broadway, and son of Mrs. Edith Thelan of Westwood, to Miss Norma J. Antibus, daughter of Mrs. Pearl Antibus of Hollywood. For not only are the two young people descendants of old Orange county families, but Mr. Thelan's best man, Joseph Kelly of Hollywood, is the son of a former Santa Ana family.

The wedding was a charming affair in the Antibus home, 1537 Cordell place, Hollywood, where quantities of flowers in exquisite soft colors, gave a gala appearance and formed a gracious background for the nuptial rites at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Antibus, given in marriage by Dr. Chas. of Hollywood for whom she has been office nurse since her graduation from Van Nuys high school, was girlishly lovely in her filmy bridal gown of tea rose yellow chiffon and lace, and carrying a great cluster of orchids and pale yellow roses.

Mrs. W. R. Graves of Santa Barbara was a youthful honor matron, and was crowned in a pretty green flower crown, lending a pretty contrast in color tones. Joseph Kelly, the best man, and Mr. Thelan had been close friends ever since their days at Page Military academy, preceding the latter's enrollment as a student at Harvard Military school.

The young people spoke their wedding vows before Bishop Gooden of the Episcopal church, who until three years ago, was connected with Harvard Military school as head master, and under whom Mr. Thelan had studied for several years prior to his graduation from that school.

Following the impressive rites was a reception during which relatives and close friends offered their congratulations to the young people and were given opportunity to see the many beautiful gifts presented them. Refreshments appropriate to so happy an occasion were served.

Mr. Thelan and his bride are now traveling through Northern California, and Mrs. Thelan's mother, Mrs. Antibus, who was a guest here yesterday in the Mosbaugh home, said that her latest word from them was written from Crater Lake. They will return to occupy a beautiful new home in Hollywood, where Mr. Thelan operates an oil station.

Mrs. Mosbaugh, his grandmother, who attended the nuptial rites, returned from a few days spent at the beach immediately after the wedding.

Circus-like in appearance was the party table about which little Miss Betty Jane Smith, five-year-old daughter of Mrs. E. L. Smith of Penmar Heights, and a few of her playmates clustered at the close of her birthday party one afternoon recently.

Two elephants of ivory white stood at each plate and other animals in miniature were on prominent display, even the candelholders being of bird design. All other decorations were of yellow, from the table cover to the birthday cake. About the cake were grouped cellophane-wrapped popcorn balls and from these latter ran streamers to the several plates. Napkins and service were of the same yellow coloring.

The birthday feast was enjoyed after a merry afternoon passed at games. The youngsters found especially intriguing the gay paper whistles which were passed around during the course of the party.

Sharing this happy affair were the small honoree and hostess, Miss Betty Jane Smith, Norma Lee Squires, Cordelia and Robert Kennedy, Donald and Katherine Hildebrand, Betty Jean Drake, Patty and Mike Elliott and Onnelie Elliott.

Older people present were Mesdames E. L. Smith, mother of the honoree; George Kenney, Fred Drake, Herbert Hildebrand, Kemp Elliott and Dale Elliott.

Ramona Young Couple Wedded in Home of Bride's Brother

Their own wedding day of so few years ago was recalled Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Barker Woodward when they opened their home at 1706 West Eighth street, to Mr. Woodward's sister, Miss Ottila Woodward, daughter of the H. J. Woodwards of Ramona, and her fiancé, William Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison of Lakeside, for a wedding of much quiet charm.

Mrs. Woodward, the former Miss Murrell Rash, made her home a delightful setting for a nuptial ceremony, by banking it with zinnias in all the pastel tones, combined with slender stalks of gladioli in equally delicate colors. An altar was suggested by the floral arrangement at one end of the living room, and just preceding the hour of 4 o'clock, chosen for the ceremony, two dainty little bridesmaids, Jean Woodward, daughter of Mrs. Elsie Woodward of this city and Ruth Woodward, daughter of the Arthur Woodwards of Los Angeles, entered the room bearing crystal baskets of pale pink sweet peas tied with soft blue tulle.

The two little maids, nieces of the bridegroom, were crowned alike in bouffant organza frocks in soft gaily hued blue with wide-brimmed organza hats to match. They took up stations at either end of the altar where they stood, a guard of honor, during the ceremony.

Miss Woodward wore a graceful frock in which larkspur blue flat top hat, a shoulder corsage of white gardenias completed her effective appearance. She was attended by her hostess and sister-in-law, Mrs. Woodward, who continued the color scheme of the bridal party by wearing blue chiffon and velvet with a corsage of Talliesman roses.

Mr. Harrison was assisted by Mr. Woodward as best man, and the marriage vows were taken before the Rev. F. E. Lindgren, pastor of Calvary church.

Following the ceremony and during the period of congratulations, refreshments of ices and fruit punch were served with the wedding cake, the first slice of which was cut by the new Mrs. Harrison. Later the newly wedded pair left for Los Angeles and a Southland honeymoon from which they will proceed to Ramona where Mr. Harrison is one of the leading young ranchers and where a pretty home awaits his bride.

Guests who assembled for the wedding included in addition to the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Barker Woodward, the Rev. and Mrs. Frank E. Lindgren and son, Frank Lindgren, Jr., Mrs. Elsie Woodward and little daughter Jean, Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor and son Donald, and Miss Mabel Brockert, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Woodward and little daughter Ruth, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Woodward and son, Dickey, Oceanside; Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Wilhelm, San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shaw and Miss Charlotte Allison, Ramona.

Thursday night's meeting of "Fraternal Aid union in M. W. A. hall is to be a special home coming affair, with festivities to open with a covered dish dinner at 6:30 o'clock. The program to follow will be in charge of Mrs. Clara McCord, who has suggested that she has many surprises in store, especially for those who have not been regular in their attendance.

A general tour of the United States, will relate some of his travel experiences. Decorations for the event will be in charge of Mrs. Schroit.

The Southwest section of the First Presbyterian Aid society will hold a garden party with Mrs. E. L. Morrison, 116 South Birch street, Thursday at 2 o'clock.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

A Huckleberry Cake That Won't Keep

Last autumn I had what I considered one of the most delicious cakes ever concocted—a Huckleberry Cake—and a mental note was made to get and publish this recipe when huckleberry time came 'round again. Well, that time is here and so is the recipe.

Huckleberry Cake

1 cup butter beaten to a cream with 2 cups white sugar
1/2 cup milk added and whipped in 4 egg yolks beaten to a thick cream and added to the sugar cream
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons baking powder sifted with 2 cups cake flour
1 quart huckleberries, floured with 1 cup flour, heaping measure
4 egg whites beaten stiff
Cream the butter, gradually work in the sugar and whip both until they resemble whipped cream. Then beat in the milk and the beaten egg yolks. Sift the spices with the flour and baking powder and work into the creamed part. Beat the egg whites stiff and fold them into the batter. Flour the huckleberries with a heaped cup of sifted flour and fold them into the batter. Pour an inch deep into a buttered shallow pan and bake in a medium oven until the edges shrink from the pan.

This cake is supposedly better if allowed to stand a full 24 hours so that the huckleberry juice may have a chance to soak through the cake. I've never been able to get the poor cake beyond the cooling stage in my house.

Huckleberry season being somewhat short, you may not have a chance to try this cake. I have a good idea that it might be very good if cranberries replaced the huckleberries.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Beef Broth
Steak or shin bones
1 pound veal shank
1 1/2 tablespoons salt
2 quarts water
1 large onion, chopped
6 whole peppercorns
1/2 green pepper, chopped
Handful of parsley
2 or 3 cups tomatoes
Wash the bones well, then take the salt and rub it into them before putting them in water. This rubbing in of salt draws out the flavor and nutriment. The water is added cold and the kettle brought to the boil, then the vegetables and peppercorns are put in and the broth is simmered until the meat falls off the bones. Strain off the broth and skim off the fat when cold.

If the broth is sufficient gelatin this broth will be half jelly when cold. Return it to a clean kettle, heat, and add a small handful of pearl barley, 1 large tomato, chopped fine, and a small cupful of cooked carrot, chopped fine. Simmer until barley is soft, then season to taste.

Soup of this type has a caloric value of 200 per eight-ounce cup.

BREAKFAST FAVORITES, the current leaflet, may be had free of charge if it is stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed with your request. In this leaflet you will find some of your favorite breakfast dishes and some that I hope will become your favorites.

Thursday we'll make Huckleberry Muffins, one of the grandest hot breads ever baked.

Program for New Year Drawn at Week End Mountain Party

Mountain sports and departmental discussions were combined to make of a week end party at Lake Arrowhead an occasion as profitable as it was entertaining. The party comprised members of the young people's department of the First Presbyterian church and was chaperoned by a group of leaders who included the Rev. and Mrs. O. Scott McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kring and Mrs. F. E. Coulter. The young people occupied the cottages of L. M. Forey and George Shippe, both Santa Anans.

Horseback riding, swimming and games were alternated with discussions pertaining to the coming year's work, the latter schedule being drawn up with the aid of the three instructors, Mrs. McFarland, Mrs. Coulter and Mr. Kring.

Young folk composing the mountain party were the Misses Rachel Jones, Bonnie Kiser, Thelma Shippe, Grace Middlebrook, Jean Leive, Marlen Brownridge, Elizabeth Downie, Charlene Kite, and Lillian McDonald; Messrs. Bob Hafer, Dean Babbitt, Melvin Witt and Ray Archer.

Members of the party were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pearce of Balboa Beach in their cabin at the mountain resort. Taking part in the week end birthday festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Shipp and Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Kilder of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Head of Los Angeles, in addition to the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pearce.

VALUE OF ADS OUTLINED FOR BEACH GROUP

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 14.—The Business Men's association under the auspices of the publicity bureau, of which J. S. Farquhar is chairman, held an open meeting and banquet last night at the Golden Bear cafe. Marc N. Goodnow, field representative of the department of journalism of the University of Southern California delivered an address on "The Value of Newspaper Advertising."

Presenting statistics that the university has gathered through a careful detailed survey covering a great many cities in Southern California, Goodnow stated that a city or town which had a newspaper gave its merchants from 75 to 80 per cent more home trade than a city that had no newspaper.

He said that merchants who advertised received from 35 to 45 per cent more business from the home town customers than a merchant who did not advertise. He suggested co-operation in advertising and also in buying their stocks as advisable for merchants who wished to keep the home trade at home.

Preceding the address by Goodnow a short business session was held with Jack Robertson, president of the organization, presiding. Secretary R. G. Miller read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Vice President C. G. Ward read a report on "annexation." He said that the investigation he had conducted showed a strong desire on the part of the people of this city and of Newport Beach to have Huntington Beach annex all the territory bordering the coast line between the east city limits of Huntington Beach and the west city limits of Newport.

At the Lincoln school on North Walnut street, which included all grades to and including the fifth grade, there were 141 students this year compared with 168 last year. Last year this school also cared for the sixth grade, which has been moved to the Washington school now. PLACENTIA, Sept. 14.—Officers were elected at the September meeting of Placentia Women's Christian Temperance union at the home of Mrs. James Huntley, Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. Leroy A. Grimm being made new president, replacing Mrs. Guy Kay, who has served six years, making a record of missing but two meetings during the period.

Little Marie Steen, another older recruit, sang a solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. D. J. Brigham.

Mrs. Hale, talking briefly on the current events in legislative activity, and on the coming election, declared that all personal opinions must be disregarded, and that individuals should work for the good of the cause in the coming campaign.

"The difficulty that is presenting itself as the division of the dry, and to accomplish our purpose we must not let the forces working against us accomplish that division," Mrs. Hale said.

"Criticism of the strategy committee is unjustified, for the very organization of the committee, made up as they are of representatives of 31 organizations, precludes any representative having control." She urged voters to unite on the issue at stake, and to elect dry representatives to governmental offices. She also urged support of the Wright act.

Mrs. Hale, following her talk, answered questions and declared that the state strategy board has passed no recommendation except on Bob Shuler.

The city council has approved a general bond issue in the amount of $50,000 last March for the purpose of developing a new and larger well on the proven ground where the present well supplying the city is located and to replace the main line and laterals of the present water system with cast iron pipe.

ASSOCIATION IN ATTACK ON TIDELANDS DRILLING PROGRAM OF HUNTINGTON BEACH COUNCIL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 14.—Declaring that "our city faces a grave crisis in the proposed despoiling of our city tidelands and beaches and the obstructing of the Coast highway through this city," a letter was being distributed today by the Beach Protective association, an organization opposed to the tidelands drilling program of the city council.

The Pacific Exploration company was granted a lease on the tidelands by the city council May 15, the land involved extending from Seventeenth street to the west city limits.

On August 5, following a ruling by Attorney General Webb, that the lease signed in May was of a "tentative" nature, the council signed a new lease with the company. The matter of drilling hinges on the voters of the state approving a measure on the ballot at the November election granting the tidelands to Huntington Beach.

Earl Gilmore is president and Roy Maggart is vice president of the Pacific Exploration company. Both live in Los Angeles.

The distance from Seventeenth street to the city limits is approximately 7500 feet. The lease calls for a minimum of 15 wells. There is room on the tidelands for 40 wells should the company desire to drill that many, all men state. In addition to the one-sixth royalty, the lease calls for the payment of a bonus of $100,000 out of the first oil produced from the lease.

The 1931 state legislature granted the tidelands to the city but Governor Rolph killed the measure by a pocket veto.

The letter declares that "We feel that in justice to us all, a fair statement is due the citizens and taxpayers from our city government. We feel that this is of sufficient importance that all should know what is going on, and not all business relative to this matter be conducted behind closed doors."

The Beach Protective association is declared "A non-political civic organization formed in Huntington Beach by representative men to fight the attempts to ruin the beaches of California by drilling for oil thereon." The letter states that more questions are to be asked later on.

Nine questions are asked in the letter, as follows:

"1. Why were petitions circulated for approval to drill the beach immediately following the election May 3, when the people of Huntington Beach and the state voted decisively against beach drilling?"

"2. Why did some circulators of petitions tell the people they were endeavoring to secure the beach for playground and recreational purposes?"

"3. Why was the lease made with the Pacific Exploration company? Did the city attorney pass on this lease for the city? If not, who did?"

"4. Why was a week's delay not granted as requested by chamber of commerce representatives in order that the proposition might be studied?"

"5. Why was this lease cancelled several weeks later and a new one made? Which attorney passed on this new lease? Did he pass on all of it or just that part which was protested by a member of the city council?"

"6. Why was the financial statement of the Pacific Exploration company not published? Are not the citizens of Huntington Beach entitled to know the financial standing of this company?"

"7. Who comprises the Huntington Beach Improvement association?"

"8. What is their objective and what do they expect to improve?"

"9. Why was the tideland lease made up for 1/6 royalty and no cash bonus?"

Work Started On New Clubhouse of Barber City Club

BARBER CITY, Sept. 14.—The erection of a clubhouse for the Barber City Woman's club was begun Tuesday. It was originally planned to purchase a lot directly adjoining the site of the water works and the Barber City park but an offer for a new site on the rear of the lot where the service station stands, by the owner, A. N. Olson, changed this plan at the last moment. The clubhouse, which is to be 22 by 20 feet, will face on Frances street.

F. Johnson, who resides east of Barber City, offered to supervise the erection of the building and men of the community are giving their services free of charge.

RAY SMITH OF ANAHEIM talked on federal legislation. Mrs. Smith, president of the twenty-first district, George Franzen, Orange, past commander of the fifth area; Glen Young, Tustin, county council commander, and Ted Craig, Brea, a Legionnaire, and member of the state assembly, spoke.

OIL ACTIVITY SHOWS GAIN IN BEACH SECTION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 14.—Oil field activities are on the upgrade. The John H. Marlon Oil company is reconditioning a well at Sixteenth and Ocean and another at Fifteenth and Olive.

The West American Oil company is redrilling a well, the old Invader well at Westminster and Garfield. W. P. McCaslin is again at work on the Hanke well at Ninth and Ocean. This well is said to be in oil sand at 5000 feet and has a good chance of becoming an excellent producer, according to field reports.

The Boston Petroleum company, a new company in the field is assembling acreage near Five Points for a test well in that area. It is said the company desires to acquire 2000 acres.

The city for the first time since oil was found here 11 years ago, is moving to secure drilling of city owned property. The first step is the acquisition of the tidelands which question will be voted on at the election November 3. The hearing to quiet title to the 30-foot strip bordering on Ocean avenue will come up before Judge Scoville in the superior court at Santa Ana September 30.

These two projects will provide considerable drilling and will force offset drilling by Standard Oil company. There is opposition from certain interest and their supporters against both projects.

The opponents have organized under the name of the Beach Protective association and have opened headquarters on Main street with J. H. Macklin in charge.

It was announced that the installation of officers would take place at Huntington Beach the latter part of September. It was also announced that a card party, at which all past presidents of the local auxiliary will be honorees, will be held here early in October.

175 Employed In Irvine Lima Bean And Walnut Plants

IRVINE, Sept. 14.—A crew of 75 women is employed at the San Joaquin warehouse handling lima beans. The largest yield of lima beans in this section for several years is being threshed. The beans are of an unusually good quality.

The Irvine walnut house has a crew of 100 women employed in two shifts of eight hours each. Owing to the excellent quality of the walnuts, there will not be as long a run as in other years.

Woe Windy was the first to try a great, big pear and he cried, "I have never seen a pear like this. My goodness, but it's sweet."

"There are no seeds inside of it, so we can enjoy every bit. Just look, they're hanging over head and way down by our feet."

The others reached out, here and there, to grab the choicest looking pear. "I guess I've found the biggest," shouted Scouty, with a smile.

"It's hard to realize it's real. In this one pear there is a meal. I'll eat this one and try and find another, after while."

Just then poor Duncy reached way out and suddenly began to shout, "Hey, catch me! I am slipping. Oh, I'll topple from the tree."

The others tried to hold him back, but then they heard a long limb crack. In falling, Duncy grabbed it and he slid down easily.

"Twas lucky that the ground was near. Soon Duncy shouted, 'Have no fear! I didn't hurt myself one bit. I'll climb back right away."

"Those pears are far too good to miss and I won't be left out like this." Then Scouty said, "You're clumsy! That is all that I can say."

Soon Duncy scrambled up again to join the other lads, and then they all ate pears until they couldn't eat another one.

"Oh, my," said one, "I fear I'll drop. We don't know just when to stop, but while we all were feasting on the fruit, it sure was fun."

Then they were startled when they heard a little voice cry, "It's absurd for you wee lads to stay up there. Climb down and come with me."

The Tines started looking round. "Ah, there's a dwarf, down on the ground," cried Scouty. "He looks funny, but as friendly as can be."

A number of women can be found among those who pan the Platte river at Denver for gold . . . and, as this picture shows, they wear a variety of costumes.

THE electrifying cry of GOLD is going up once more in Colorado. And—just as in the days of '59—it is luring thousands of men, and a few score of women, to the creeks and streams from which may be wrested small flakes of the precious metal. Rugged men, many of them beaten back in the uneven battle to live in industry while a depression goes on, line the most famous of the old streams with their gold pans, shovels, sluice boxes and rockers.

Within the city limits of Denver itself, it is not uncommon to run across a small band of men, overall-clad and booted, panning the mud of the Platte River for the few tiny "colors" which will pay for their beans and coffee.

Nearly 10,000 men and a few score women have learned in organized classes the intricate business of finding the elusive gold amid the rocks and gravel and muddy water of one creek or another.

Uncounted others have called forth experiences from the past or picked up the knowledge as they might and trudged out to try their hand at scraping from the ground the gold that will keep a hungry wolf from the door.

Some have found the task too great, the work too arduous or the returns too small. For experience and skill, a strong back and a patient heart, a site and a right to work it, a practical knowledge of placer mining or geology and no small measure of luck are as essential as a gold pan and a sluice box to the man who will unlock the treasure chest of nature.

BUT many are averaging enough—perhaps 50 cents or $1 a day—to keep bread, butter and beans in the house until the call to regular employment comes again.

Still others, with a little more experience, a little better equipment and a deal more luck, are making wages from the gravel and mud of the bed streams. A few, with the best knowledge and the greatest luck, average better than wages. From some claims in the choicest ground a man may take $7 or $8 a day.

And always in the heart and mind of the real prospector is the age-old, though seldom spoken, hope that "I'll strike it rich tomorrow."

For there's still "gold in them thar hills" just as there was when the rugged frontiersmen fought their way along rutted wagon trails in the early '60's in the gold boom that gave Colorado its birth and laid a foundation for the west of the modern day.

It's economic depression which beckons men to the toiling and battling for the precious stuff. It was national panic in the late '30's which turned men's ears to the far off cry in California, Nevada and Colorado that "there's gold for men who can come and take it."

AND it was sinking commodity value levels and unemployment which turned men's thoughts back to the gold streams and the metal mines in the last year or so.

The level of wages was dropping. The cost of recovering gold was lower. Yet the value of the yellow metal remained the same and Uncle Sam stood ready to accept it at his mints for dollars.

So it was not without reason that gold mining ventures were stimulated and that properties long idle began once more to hum. "Ghost" towns of all but forgotten eras took on a little of the life that had been denied them since the turn of the century. Streams in California, Nevada, Colorado and other states are being "panned" once more for the precious yellow flakes.

Prospectors began following their burros into the rocky gulches and up dizzy hillsides in the quest for a "strike."

Other men, men to whom the doors of regular employment seemed closed, heard the call and heeded it. Closer to home they began to pan the mud of river and creek. The word spread that gold still was to be had for the taking.

Gold pans, long relegated to dusty attics, came forth, and stores began again to offer "mining supplies" to the lone prospector.

Uncle Sam did his bit. Through Frank E. Shepard, superintendent of the U. S. Mint in Denver, it was announced a year ago that under instructions from Washington, gold in the natural state would be purchased in quantities as small as two ounces at a time—worth about $41. The previous minimum purchase was $100.

THE order of the government was the answer to a steadily increasing tender of small amounts of gold. Panners, working to meet their necessities of living, often found it impossible to keep going until they had $100 worth of the precious flakes.

"This permission is being granted," read the

T. A. Davis, hunting gold in the vicinity of Denver, finds an old frying pan will do to pan gold.

"Rugged men beaten by the industrial depression in the cities line the most famous of the old streams with their gold pans, shovels, sluice boxes and rockers."

a announcement, "for the purpose of giving what encouragement we can to placer mining during the present season."

ing and capturing gold.

Manuals and textbooks were provided and arrangements were made to obtain equipment at cost. Experienced mining men gathered their students in school rooms and expounded on the theories of placer mining.

They gave instruction in field methods of identifying gold and minerals which resemble gold; in the theory and the manipulation of the gold pan, the horn spoon, the rocker and the sluice box; in the proper method of handling a retort for the separation of gold and mercury; in the geology of placer deposits, and in methods of locating likely looking ground.

Attorneys explained the way to gain the right to work a placer claim.

PROSPECTORS—men with years of experience in scratching the rocky gulches and panning the running streams for gold—took the classes to the banks of the Platte River for actual experience.

Employed men and women paid $2.50 for the course. The unemployed were taught free.

Nearly 1000 men and women from Denver took the course. Throughout the state, instruction was given to almost 10,000. Among them were coal miners for whom there was no work underground, wage earners who could find no employment, college and high school graduates who knew nowhere to turn for work, housewives whose sons and husbands were idle and a scattering of men and women seeking adventure, thrills or literary material.

The school lasted several weeks. The "graduates" are now out along the streams, testing their new found knowledge—some succeeding, some failing.

BUT the fame of the schools has spread, carrying across the nation the cry of gold. From every corner of the land, letters of inquiry about the new "bonanza" are pouring in to the Colorado School of Mines, city and state officials, employment committees and mining men in and near Denver.

So great has been the flood of inquiries to the School of Mines that they are being answered with mimeographed copies of a reply; a warning that there is not opportunity to get rich, that the placer fields are no opening for those who lack experience, a strong physique, a knowledge of geology and a claim to which one has a legal right.

On every hand mining men are warning against the exaggerated reports of huge sums to be made with the gold pan and shovel.

One conservative mining man advanced the belief that the thousands now whipping the streams of Colorado are not averaging 25 cents a day. Other estimates—probably more accurate—are that the average runs in the neighborhood of 50 cents a day.

John T. Joyce, Colorado commissioner of mines, points out that gold production in Colorado in one year will total about $5,000,000, of which about $52,000 is from placer operations.

He estimates the average for the thousands along the streams is under 50 cents a day.

THERE are individuals," he said, "making a living wage panning gold in Colorado today. But they are miners, equipped with knowledge of where and how to placer."

Joyce warns against outsiders flocking into the state to seek a living with a gold pan.

Miners, prospectors and the state's own unemployed have staked or leased virtually all the worthwhile placer claims, he says.

Out among the men and women who actually are rocking the pans back and forth and shoveling the gravel through sluice boxes, one meets a variety of stories.

There are men in golf knickers and sport oxfords, in overalls and work shoes, in khaki and rubber boots. There are women in house dresses, in trousers, in mother hubbards.

There are men who have sifted the pay dirt from the gravel for years and made a living wage, and men who have been accustomed to drawing a weekly envelope from shop or factory.

But the bulk of those who can be found any day along the banks of the Platte River or of Clear Creek, within or near the city limits of Denver, are men who hope to make a wage that will tide a family over a rough spot.

ANAHEIM, Sept. 14.—Following out the policy of city economy in city government, the city council last evening refused to extend the sewer line towards Garden Grove when the members were requested to do so by J. W. Sackett and A. L. Lewis, ranchers.

The council passed a motion, however, that the city will maintain the cost of connecting the sewer line from the A. L. Lewis property to that of J. W. Sackett, as a temporary relief measure.

The first reading of the ordinance for the tax rate was given last night. The ordinance provides for the levying of nineteen cents on each $100 of all real and personal property to be used for the general fund purposes, 154 cents for the public library and the rest for the retirement fund, bonds and interest.

Bids were sent for the iron pipe contract, but it was decided to hold the matter over until the next meeting.

An ordinance, providing for the protection of the legitimate merchant from the "fly-by-night" merchant, was passed. This ordinance provides that a business license of $100 be paid by merchants staying in Anaheim for less than one year.

Following his speech Mrs. A. L. Kline, accompanied by the piano by Mrs. Stanley Peterson, sang two numbers, "By the Land of the Skyblue Waters" by Cadman, and "Don't You Listen" by Carlie Jacob.

Bond. She was introduced by Mrs. Fred Weisel, music chairman.

The first pilgrimage will take place next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the members County Night" was presided.

SLANDER SHOULD BE CONDEMNED

There are few things worse than the political slanderer. The writer, returning after a few days' vacation following the primaries, was astonished to hear from the lips of gossip, stories concerning candidates. For example, one of them was that one of the candidates for supervisor was being backed financially by two of the public utilities who desired to see him elected, and that the other one was backed financially by a third public utility, which was desirous of seeing him elected.

Such stories cannot be condemned too strongly by the citizens of our city. They are slanders upon good men, and to any sane and reasonable man, they bear the evidence of untruth on their face. We believe we know the candidates for this office in the first supervisorial district. We are absolutely confident that neither of them would solicit, or accept such help, if it were proffered. We are confident that neither would permit himself to be placed under obligations of this character, and the utilities are not in that kind of business in Santa Ana.

Individuals may have their preference, but we believe that there is nothing that should be condemned more severely by the people of our community, and will be by the men of character, than the slanderous, lying misrepresentations which are whispered concerning either this candidate or the other. There is a constant attempt to arouse prejudice, instead of discussing the principles involved in every campaign.

The Register refused to select any one candidate for the Board of Supervisors for approval in the primary campaign, because it was interested in certain principles, and not in candidates, as such. It will maintain that position. It will be for any and all candidates for public office, who are for the principles for which The Register stands. It will not be governed by the attitude of other men upon these candidates, but by the attitude of the candidates upon those issues which we believe closely affect the public weal. We believe there is every day added evidence locally, in the county, state and nation, of the necessity of standing for these principles.

May we re-iterate, in part, what we uttered sometime ago upon these very principles:

"Those who assault the publisher and The Register declare that The Register is trying to build a political machine. They know better. They know that we are standing for certain principles, and policies, and for any men who stand for them.

"But we want to here and now publicly and emphatically declare that we will be frankly and openly for all candidates who can be counted upon to stand for the following principles:

"1.—For the enforcement of the law, as an official, which includes the 18th amendment and that he shall not connive with or wink at its violation through personal attitude or official relationship.

"2.—Against secrecy in conducting the public's business.

"3.—Against the domination of any clique or group or the use of influence or power by such groups for personal ends.

"4.—For a definite and immediate curtailment of public expenditures all along the line.

"5.—Against public contracts at increased rates to friends over what they can be gotten for from others.

"6.—To give the taxpayer the benefit of the cheapest rate where a bid can bring down the cost.

"7.—For an equitable and just distribution of the gas tax money.

"8.—In favor of such unity of public funds, so as to insure the judgment of all the supervisors on any expenditure of any considerable amount of money, whenever it may be expended, instead of as now handing each supervisor a share of money to spend as he sees fit, regardless of the necessities of the rest of the county.

"9.—Fair and considerate treatment of the unemployed on the basis that human beings are more important than playing politics.

"Let no mistake be made in respect to the attitude of The Register. It doesn't make any difference as to the attitude these candidates assume upon the publisher of this paper or The Register. He can dislike us or oppose us, but if he stands for the above principles openly and frankly and dependably, we believe he is the kind of a man who should be nominated and elected to public office.

"We have supported men whom we did not particularly like, when they have stood for the principles in which we believe. We are doing this today; we expect to do it tomorrow. So, regardless of any past differences, or of any public criticism which a candidate may have made of the publisher or The Register, if the candidate is for the above principles, he can count upon the backing of this paper. Political machines against the interest of the people are not built by this method."

We would take the word of either of these honorable men running for this office in the first district upon these principles.

A DEFENSE OF DEMOCRACY

Prof. Frederick Ogg, of the American Political Science Review, sounds a note in favor of democracy in the current number of "Current History," which is well worth reading. We have had too much talk about dictatorship the last few years, implying the failure of democracy. Over against this Prof. Ogg notes some of the epochal contributions of democracy to the country and the world. In 143 years of the existence of the American government, democracy has achieved its greatest triumphs. Thirteen commonwealths have increased to 48; 4,000,000 people have increased to 124,000,000; a national government consisting of George Washington and a Congress has become a political establishment of 600,000 officials and employees and an annual budget of $4,500,000,000.

During the last two years we have had a divided authority in Washington. The House has been dominated by the opposition party. The Senate has been in opposition to the Executive in spirit. Yet when a crisis existed, we found all departments of government working together. Congress has given the President practically all he asked. This has been the case in every crisis of the country. During the recent war, President Wilson was never hampered by Congress. It is folly to say that a dictatorship of any kind could have done better. The cure for the defects of democracy has always been more democracy. Measured by every test, there is not a country in the world that can show better results than have been shown here. The other countries today which are weathering the storm of depression and post-war chaos are such countries as England and France and our own; and these countries have never looked with favor toward the man on horseback. Let us be done with our carping criticism of a system of government which has worked so well.

SANITY ON THE DRINK QUESTION

It is a great satisfaction to note the drift on the prohibition discussion that is going on. The "wets" are beginning to recognize that there are some dangers ahead, should they succeed in gaining their ends. Here is Walter Lippman, in one of his syndicated editorials, saying, "It seems to me more than dubious whether a legalized liquor traffic, run for private profit, ought to be re-established. For it certainly will produce evils which will keep liquor in politics and make any durable solution of the problem remote."

That expresses our view exactly. It has always been a dangerous business. As Mr. Lippman says, "The profit-seeking of the brewers and the distillers caused them to resist regulation by corrupting the public authorities, and to expand their business by high pressure salesmanship." This opens up the whole question as to whether any legalizing can cure the evils of the drink business. We do not know what the future of the question will be, but we believe that the sober second thought of the American people will direct a policy of caution.

Prohibition has solved more of the problem than any other method that has ever been adopted, and the experience through which people passed in arriving at that solution is the most convincing and overwhelming argument for it. The real friends who know the facts, and passed through them in the last 25 years, are looking forward and not backward for ultimate solution. It never will reach a point where all people agree. It cannot, from the nature of the case. It has been a contest for 5000 years, and is likely to continue to be.

"FLYING" FAMILY RESCUED

Everyone is glad that the "flying" Hutchinson family is safe. Their narrow escape from suffering and death does not disprove the fact that even though the children wanted to go along it is not the ideal expedition for them.

Basques and Catalonians

San Francisco Chronicle

The stout and stubborn Catalonians, kinsfolk of the soldiers who marched with Guesar de Portolá to the discovery of San Francisco bay, have won autonomy from Spain. This will encourage the equally stout and stubborn Basques, kinsfolk of the men who for decades herded California's sheep in the Sierra Nevada.

Basques and Catalonians, neither have ever considered themselves Spaniards. They are in Spain, but not of it. Neither race speaks Spanish at its firesides. Proud, independent and forceful, the Catalonians have been for centuries in a state of chronic rebellion against Spanish authority. The Basques, also proud and forceful, and with the independence of their Pyrenean habitat, have been accustomed to heeding only so much authority as they chose.

Formerly there was one common bond—religion. This has weakened in the case of Catalonia, where radicalism is now active. In the case of the Basques the bond has been broken on the other side. These mountaineers are conservative and have stuck to the church. They wish to have no part in the attitude of the present Spanish government toward the church. Basques, like Catalonians, wish to manage their own affairs.

At this distance we are accustomed to thinking of Spain and Spaniards as a unified country with a homogeneous population. This is far from being the case. Spain is a checkerboard of diverse peoples. As a corner of the continent it has been a catch basin for remnants or successive invading hordes. All over Spain are sections of population, some large, some small, differing from each other and from their neighbors. The name "Spaniard" covers people of widely differing origins.

Buying Increases

The Oakland Tribune

One of New York's ways of checking up on the business of the nation is to count the number of buyers for stores who appear in the city. The Times says that for the week ending August 23 more outside buyers arrived in the city than for any previous week since the first one in September of 1930. The number was 1198 as compared with 1033 in the same week a year ago.

The story tells something which has been expected. A quickening of buying by men who find their shelves short or who have purchased short because of the times, reflects a growth in confidence and indicates a turn in tide. It is probable the rising prices of commodities will further stimulate this movement as the best time to buy is at hand. Men who bought at high prices and had to sell when the level was dropping have opportunity now to get in on the ground floor and fill their shelves when the price movement is the other way. Those who lost will have chance to profit and all of their buying will stimulate the various industries and add to the momentum of the industrial pick-up.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE CRITIC COMPLEX

Whenever I get off a shot
That seems to travel fast and far,
And fancy that perhaps I've got
A fairish chance to make a par,
I murmur with a happy sigh,
"At last, by gosh! I've caught the trick."
And then I hear the caddy cry,
"Yer in the crick!"

When, with a niblick in my grip,
I fix my eye upon the ball,
And give my wrists the proper flip
To send it high above a hill,
And mutter, "I hit THAT one right,
Not hard or soft, but just enough,"
The caddy shrieks in shrill delight,
"Yer in the rough!"

And when, remembering everything
That has been taught me up to date,
I think about my stance and swing
And hold my left arm tense and straight,
Employing all the art that I
Have learned in many weary rounds,
The caddy gives the gladdest cry,
"Yer out of bounds!"

But if, though how I do not know,
I get a long one from the tee
And smile the while I watch it go Straight onward, like a homing bee,
As it rolls on its pinward way,
While trembling on my club I lean,
No caddy lifts his voice to say,
"Yer on the green."

"Fortune" prints the figures to show that Mr. Hoover also Pop was trying to make his new cigar lighter work, and ma said, Gladis bawled little Willie around today, and Mrs. Shooster's little grand dawter, Mildred came into play with him, they look so sweet together, like little fallen angels.

I thavt there was a lot of jolliness between them, pop said, and ma said, Well, yes, there is,
and in fact they weren't together 5 minutes before they were pushing and slapping at each other in a fine frenzy, although I must say in all fairness that it wasn't entirely Willie's fault, because he had given Mildred several chances to let him push her without pushing him back, but she obstinately refused to submit.

Very unsporting of her, pop said, and ma said, I gave Willie quite a serious little talking to,
I impressed on his little subconscious mind the fact that nice people never rite but settle their differences by appeals to each other's reason. I told him that fighting is an objectionable dependant of the stone ages when human beings were all covered with hair instead of surrounded with goodness, and that nowadays intelligent educated people leave fighting to mad dogs and infuriated soldiers, and my little tute took immediate effect, ma said.

How? pop said, and ma said,
Well, the first thing I knew little Mildred was in a half sitting half sliding position on the floor where Willie had forcibly pushed her, and before I had time to reproach him he spoke up with that charming little smile of his and said, I'll show her how nawty it is to rite. In other words you mite say his final push was in the general spirit of a war to end wars, she said.

So you mite, I think I'll read my paper and find out about the trouble in South America, pop
said.

Wich he started to.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

EDUCATIONAL EQUALIZATION

One of the big problems just ahead is the equalization of educational opportunities for the children of all classes and conditions of men.

We have given at least formal recognition to this problem.

Our states have recognized their responsibility for public education by providing, in general, for the distribution of two types of funds to school districts.

(1) Common school funds. These funds were created originally from the sale of lands granted to the states by the federal government for school purposes. The annual income from these funds is distributed to the various school districts on the basis of a school census enumeration.

(2) Equalization funds. This second type of fund is a modern development intended, not for general support, as is the intention of the common school funds, but to equalize educational opportunity, particularly for rural children.

These equalization funds are raised by state taxation. Large annual distributions are made to school districts, the districts with a small assessed valuation receiving proportionately large amounts, while wealthy districts receive little or no support from the state.
More than $20,000,000 is distributed annually in New York for equalization purposes. And yet there are still more than 10,000
one-room rural schools in New York.

Wisconsin has a scientifically developed equalization fund. And yet the establishment of this fund has done little more than make possible the continued maintenance of the one-room rural schools created to meet the conditions of pioneer Wisconsin. There are some 6500 such schools in Wisconsin.

The situation can be duplicated in more than three-fourths of the states.

In short, the equalization funds of the various states have made next to no inroads upon this lamentable condition which the one-room school dramatizes.

And unless we make some major move there seems little likelihood that the present generation will see these rural children housed in modern consolidated schools, adequately staffed and equipped,
and with an enriched curriculum.

Men and the children of men are not equal.

Nature produces a bewildering array of inequalities of character and capacity.

It is dangerous for the nation to fall victim to a sentimental assumption that the children that throng our schools are equal in character and capacity. But the greatness of our national future will depend upon our insuring complete equality of education opportunity so that whatever the character or capacity of any American child that character and capacity will be trained to function at its maximum effectiveness.

THE DIPLOMAT

John Henry is six. He has no brothers, no sisters, not even a cousin of his own age. Playmates are scarce and very precious in town, but when he goes to the country for the summer, they are completely absent. The two dogs are hard put upon to make good the deficiency and there are long lonely spaces in John Henry's days.

One evening Peggy arrived.
Peggy was a fairy-like creature with golden hair and dancing blue eyes. Her pink dress matched her cheeks. Peggy was pretty, you can take John Henry's word for that. "Isn't she a nice little girl, Uncle?"

Bedtime comes early, so there was little time to cultivate the new acquaintance. John Henry went to bed dreaming of the good times in store tomorrow. There was the garden with the pool, to show. The frogs might be out and there might be a chance to make them hop and swim, if none of the interfering grownups were about.

Then, there were the dogs. They would be good for a long race down the terraces. She could roll down, too, if she was any good, and she looked all right. Maybe her mother had brought along some rompers. That pink dress might just be for company, mightn't it?

The big fat blueberries would be ripe too. And the raspberries on the hill. Her mother might be too busy to see the feast going on. It is always more fun to pick and eat them than to pick into the pails. You pick a lot and you only get a few at tea time. Such talk about berries not being good for you. Huh. You can eat a pailful. I've done it easy. They don't give you a stomach-ache if you pick the ripe ones, and if there aren't so many picking you can get the best ones for yourself.

She'll like to pick and eat, I'll bet.
So John Henry fumbled about in his mind to make Peggy's visit count. There were long areas to make up. Now and then he presented a doubtful point, like the rompers, to his mother who finally said, "If you don't go to sleep, you won't be able to get up on time to see Peggy before breakfast."

"Oh yes, I will. I'll be the first one up. You'll see." And he was.
Next morning, just as the cold mists of the lake were lifting a little, the dogs barked. I looked out to see what was the matter and there I saw a tiny figure clothed in a red and blue bath-robe and bunny slippers climbing the hill to the house. He padded up the stairs into my room.

"Well, well, John Henry. What's wrong? Why are you here so early?"

"I just came up to say 'good morning' to you, Uncle."

"That was very nice of you.
Peggy is down at the foot of the hill in the white cottage. She didn't sleep here last night, you know. I think she isn't awake yet.
Want to climb into bed here and get warm?"

"No, thank you, I'm not cold.
I'm going right back again," and down the hill he raced, the dogs barking at his heels. Once he nearly the cottage he slowed down, cautiously circled the cottage calling, "You-hoo," until Peggy heard him and opened the shutters.

"Come on out. It's morning," said John Henry.
